

GOVERNOR-GENERAL GIVEN WELCOME IN OTTAWA

New Plan of B.N.A. Act Amendment Suggested Conference On Constitutional Changes Urged

Premier Talmie and Leaders of Other Provinces at Federal-Provincial Conference in Ottawa, Hear Suggestion by Premier Bennett That Within Three Years Agreement Be Reached on New and Direct Method of Amending B.N.A. Act.

Ottawa, April 7.—That the Dominion Government favored the holding of a Federal-Provincial conference within the next two or three years to discuss new methods of amending the constitution of Canada, but that no immediate variation of procedure was contemplated, was a statement made by Premier Bennett at the opening session here this forenoon of the Dominion-Provincial conference, which has as its chief business consideration and decisions on proposed legislation growing out of the recent Imperial Conference in London.

Called to order a few minutes after 10 this forenoon, the conference was adjourned at about 10:45 in order that those attending might be on hand to welcome the new Governor-General and the Countess of Bessborough on their arrival in the capital. The afternoon sitting, to be held in private, was scheduled to open at 3 o'clock. British Columbia is represented at the conference by Premier Talmie.

LAWYERS IN LINE
Premier Bennett opened the proceedings this forenoon by indicating the conference had grown out of the Imperial Conference of 1926, which set out the well-known declaration of equality of status as between Great Britain and the Dominions. At that conference a commission was named to consider ways and means for bringing laws of Great Britain and the dominions into line with the changed status, and subsequently a conference on dominion legislation had been held in London in 1929, at which certain recommendations as to changes were drafted. The Imperial Conference of last year had approved the recommendations made by the 1929 gathering in London.

The question of the position of the provinces of Canada, in the event of the proposed legislative changes being made, had been raised, said Mr. Bennett, and he had communicated with the premiers at the time of the last Imperial Conference. Subsequently it was agreed to leave it to Canada to draft the clause in the proposed Statute of Westminster relating to this Dominion.

DRAFT SUBMITTED
The Prime Minister laid before the conference an informal draft of the proposed Statute of Westminster, together with some suggestions by the Dominion Government as to how questions raised by the provinces with reference to the provinces were to be dealt with. (Concluded on Page 2)

Boa Constrictor Frightens Fruit Man in Buffalo

Buffalo, N.Y., April 7.—A South American boa constrictor came to town to-day with a load of bananas. The bananas had been ordered, but the snake was a stowaway. While Charles Gaglione was unloading the fruit, the five-foot reptile emerged and went for a crawl. When Mr. Gaglione saw his breath several blocks down the street he telephoned for aid and help.

The society for the prevention of such things sent a fellow around, and finally Mr. Gaglione returned to the job of unloading bananas.

LEGGE DECLINES TO SHARE IN CANADIAN GRAIN INQUIRY

Winnipeg, Man., April 7.—The Manitoba Free Press to-day published the following:
"Among those prominently mentioned as having been suggested to represent the prairie provinces on the federal commission which will inquire into futures trading on grain exchanges is Alexander Legge, retired chairman of the United States Farm Board.
"It is understood Mr. Legge declined to accept the proffered position," the paper added.
No definite decision as to the prairie governments' representative had yet been made, it was definitely stated.
"Besides Mr. Legge," the Free Press stated, "Chief Justice Brown of the Court of King's Bench of Saskatchewan and H. W. Wood, president of the Alberta Wheat Pool, have been mentioned in connection with the appointment."
Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta was the original nominee, but he refused to accept the position, and A. J. McPhail, president of the Central Selling Agency of the Wheat Pool, was then rumored to be slated for the post.
No word has been received from Mr. Wood or Chief Justice Brown regarding their stand in the matter, but it is thought unlikely Mr. Wood would consider the appointment.
TWO ALREADY NAMED
The federal government appointed Sir Josiah Stamp, well-known economist of London, England, as chairman of the three-man commission. The grain exchange interests named W. Sanford Evans, M.P.P., of Winnipeg, as their representative.

KING GEORGE IS RECOVERING AT WINDSOR

Attending Physicians State Ailment Is Bronchitis of Sub-acute Nature

Sovereign Remains in Rooms, Where He Signs Papers and Reads Reports

By THOMAS T. CHAMBERLAIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, April 7.—It is understood King George's present indisposition at Windsor Castle is not related in any way to his serious illness of 1928-29. The "sub-acute bronchitis" mentioned in an official statement to-day might be described as an ordinary cold affecting the chest.

There is no reason to believe the royal family's routine at Windsor is in the least disturbed, especially as the usual custom of spending Easter week with his own family is being followed by His Majesty, and visitors who might be invited will not reach Windsor until the following week.
"With the ailment described as of a 'sub-acute' nature, the patient was stated to be progressing satisfactorily, though slowly."
The news came to the nation as a reminder it was only two years since the King was hovering between life and death from a chest disorder which originated in a cold caught on Armistice Day, 1918. The King's health has been a matter of keen public interest ever since his recovery the following spring.

The reassuring statement of satisfactory progress, was accompanied by the announcement that the King was not even confined to his bed.

ELECTION IN AUSTRALIA IF SENATE BALKS

Canadian Press Cable via Reuters' Melbourne, Australia, April 7.—The Government of Australia will seek dissolution of Parliament if the Commonwealth Senate rejects the Fiduciary Note Bill twice, after lapse of the statutory period of three months, Premier J. H. Scullin announced to-day.

The bill provides for the issue of $80,000,000 in fiduciary notes for the relief of farmers and unemployed. It has been strongly attacked by the opposition which claims the issue is inflation of the worst kind.

Hon. J. G. Latham, leader of the opposition, said yesterday there was no doubt the Senate would reject the bill.

The Scullin government is a Labor Ministry.

Teachers Important Factor of Canada's Progress As Nation

Just Beginning to Have Professional Consciousness, Says B. C. Nicholas in Address to Convention of British Columbia Educators; Have Left Stamp on Notable Development of Canadian Character; Can Answer Critics on Efficiency Grounds.

The importance of the teaching profession in Canada's national life and the realization of this consciousness by the members of the craft were emphasized before the convention of the B.C. Teachers' Federation this morning by B. C. Nicholas, in an address on "The Teacher and Human Progress."
Mr. Nicholas painted a picture of the teaching profession as one of the most important factors in Canada's national life and pointed out that educationists benefited by comparison on the point of efficiency with big business and other professions which were always ready to criticize them.

At the outset of his address, Mr. Nicholas referred to the fact that, during the ages, teachers had been responsible for the delay in reaching the great men of history. They were lost in a darkness of anonymity.
TRAINING GROUND
It is only recently that they have been regarded as a profession, he said. Teachers themselves are largely responsible for the delay in reaching this development. Many of them used teaching as a stepping-stone to other activities; some had become eminent statesmen, authors, judges and scientists. He wondered if society had benefited from the change.

Of first importance to the teachers, the speaker said, was their relation to human progress. They dealt with the human factor. The child came to school at its most impressionable age when the two most important influences in its life were the home and the school. While it was generally conceded that one supplemented the other in training the child, there was too often a lack of co-ordination between the two.

First Teacher to Receive Honor; Had Long Career in British Columbia

Dr. E. B. Paul, principal emeritus of Victoria College, and one of the most beloved figures in the educational circles of this province, yesterday evening was made an honorary member of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

High tribute to the veteran was paid before the large gathering of nearly 1,000, including the general public and representatives of the teaching profession from all over the province.
Ira Dilworth, president of the federation, made the presentation, pointing out that the honorary roll of the organization, though small, included such figures as Viscount Willingdon, Sir Arthur Currie, Dr. Charles G. D. Roberts, Sir John Adams of London University, Dr. J. D. MacLean and Dr. Allan Walker of London University.

"I must," he said, "take this chance to say a word to Dr. Paul in public. The executive of the federation was unanimous in deciding to ask Dr. Paul to honor us by becoming a member."

Three Men Held While Slaying of N. Watanabe March 30 Is Investigated

Application will be made to the Attorney-General in Victoria at once.

The two children, a boy and a girl, died after treatment in a private hospital, operated by Shinkichi Sakurada on East Cordova Street, and the man died of tuberculosis.

THREE FACE CHARGE
Sakurada and two compatriots, T. Hitome and Bunshiro Fugino, are charged with the Watanabe murder. City hospital authorities reported to police they had in their care recently some five Japanese women suffering from after effects of treatment received in a private hospital. The location of the institution was not disclosed.

Since disclosure of many details of the Watanabe case, several Japanese have reported to police headquarters suspicious circumstances surrounding deaths of friends and relatives.

SCHOOL TEACHERS' PAY IS PROBLEM

Manitoba Convention Is Told Changes Necessary on Lower Commodity Value Basis

Winnipeg, April 7.—The Manitoba Teachers' Federation at its annual convention here to-day considered resolutions and prepared for election of officers. Delegates had before them the intimation from Hon. E. A. Hoey, Minister of Education, of the intention of the provincial government "to do all that is humanly possible to save from impairment the educational structure of the province in this crisis."

As a solution of present revenue difficulties, President Hearne suggested making the government responsible for the whole cost of education through increased legacies, grants and rebating itself partly by a general municipal levy for school purposes.

NEW SOUTH WALES SECESSION GROUPS ARE NOW ORGANIZING

Sydney, N.S.W., April 7.—The first concerted move for secession of the northern sections of New South Wales, where there is bitter opposition to Premier Lang's policy of debt repudiation, took place at the mainland town hall to-day. One hundred and fifty delegates, representing the affected territory, met and adopted a draft constitution for a new federal unit, to be called "New England."

An equally strong campaign is being waged in the Riverina district for secession of that area.

Puget Sound Shareholders Not Creditors

Seattle, April 7.—Ruling shareholders in the Puget Sound Savings and Loan Association are not creditors and no act of bankruptcy has been committed, Federal Judge Jeremiah E. Nether, dismissed a petition for involuntary bankruptcy filed by three shareholders and one intervening shareholder of the association.

Under his decision, liquidation will continue to be in the hands of H. J. Hoffman, named receiver by Superior Judge Howard M. Pindley. Judge Nether refused to entertain the argument advanced by the petitioners that an act of bankruptcy had been committed when a receiver was put in charge by the State Court. "That a shareholder is not a creditor is obvious by statutes which provide, among things, that after paying indebtedness, the balance of the assets shall be distributed among shareholders—clearly distinguishing between shareholders and creditors," he said.

Meanwhile, Miss Sue Randall, former bookkeeper for Adolph F. Linden, former association head, who is charged with embezzling $248,000 from it, was summoned as a witness by the county grand jury.

STATED 500 LOST LIVES AT CAWIPORE

Indian Nationalist Committee Sends Report to Gandhi on Recent Rioting

Non-Indian Groups Say Unrest Makes Presence of British Troops Necessary

Canadian Press

New Delhi, India, April 7.—A Nationalist "board of inquiry" set up by Mahatma Gandhi has reported to him that about 500 persons lost their lives in the recent severe communal riots between Hindus and Moslems at Cawnpore. The city was described as having been transformed into a battlefield illuminated by the flames of burning houses and temples.

Gavin Jones, one of the delegates representing Europeans in India at the London round-table conference, depicted the seven days of fighting as a "terrible disgrace to British rule, and blamed authorities for not keeping the natives in order."

The riots began, according to the report of the Nationalists, when a false report was circulated that a Moslem shrine was being desecrated. Moslems charged that Hindu Nationalists attempted to force Moslem shopkeepers to close in mourning for Baghat Singh, executed revolutionary.

REGRETTED BY VICEROY
Lord Irwin, Viceroy of India, is understood to be deeply affected that such incidents should occur just as signs indicate his difficult five-year term would conclude with brighter prospects of peace in India than before.

Hindus and Moslems generally are believed to be in a dangerous mood after the recent rioting and the foreign communities believe that now, more than ever, the presence of the British army is necessary to maintain peace.

JUSTICE FOR ALL
The movement for Swaraj, Mahatma Gandhi said in an address opening the convention of the Indian Chambers of Commerce, must be interpreted as meaning a law of peace under which rights of Englishmen must be protected as well as the rights of Hindus, Moslems, Nationalists, Gandhi said, was such that it wished neither that others exploit the Hindus or that the Hindus exploit others.

NEW PLAN OF B.N.A. ACT AMENDMENT SUGGESTED

spect to proposed amendments to the British North America Act might be dealt with.

NEW METHODS WANTED
One of the provincial premiers presented the question as to whether or not a definite method of amending the constitution could not be worked out, with provisions for provincial participation.

In answer to this Mr. Bennett stated that the considered view of the Dominion Government that a conference to discuss this question should be held within the next two or three years, but present was not proposed to make any variation in the procedure of amending the constitution.

GUESTS AT LUNCHEON
A brief discussion dealing with matters of procedure and other points, followed the statement of the Premier Minister. To this Premier Taschereau of Quebec, Premier Henry of Ontario, Premier Baxter of New Brunswick, and others participated. At its conclusion the conference adjourned and its members went down to welcome the Earl and Countess of Beesborough.

of former Liberal cabinet ministers also were present.

The coincidence of the Dominion-Provincial Conference opening its sessions to-day brought about the presence at the station of a number of provincial premiers and representatives of provincial governments. Among these were Premier S. F. Tolmie of British Columbia; Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta; Hon. M. A. MacPherson, Premier of Saskatchewan, and Hon. R. A. Hoey, Minister of Education of Manitoba. This was the first occasion in history in which a Governor-General had been welcomed to the national capital by not only the Prime Minister and the government and the leader of the opposition, but by the executives of the provincial administrations.

DIPLOMATIC GROUP
Headed by Hon. I. Tokugawa, dean of the diplomatic corps, the representatives of that group added their wishes to those of the city. Representing Pope Pius XI was Mgr. Andrea Casullo, Apostolic Delegate to Canada, accompanied by Archbishop William Forbes of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Ottawa. Bishop Roper of Ottawa was the representative of the Anglican Church.

Members of the Senate, the House of Commons, Privy Counsellors, members of the judiciary, the mayor and aldermen of the city of Ottawa, the naval, military and air force officers of the guard of honor, the Earl and Countess of Beesborough walked through. There were lines of Highlanders to the raised dais in the inner concourse. CITY'S ADDRESS

There Mayor James J. Allen on behalf of the city read an address of welcome. He voiced the warm feeling of the city at the arrival of the Earl and Countess in the capital, which would be their home for the next six years.

He asked the Governor-General to convey to the King sentiments of loyalty and deep affection of the people of Ottawa.

In reply the Governor-General thanked the mayor for his address of welcome, recalling it was twenty-five years since he had last been in Canada. He expressed sympathy with the city in the misfortune which overtook it last week in the burning of the natives in order.

GUNS FIRE SALUTE
The party then ascended the main staircase to the station exit, again passing through a double line of Highlanders. On the arrival of the party was fired a salute of 21 guns in honor of the general public. As the Governor-General appeared, the signal was flashed from the station to the gun battery on Parliament Hill and the royal salute thundered out.

The Dragons were lined up, their plumed helmets and lances flashing brilliantly in the sun. A light interlude was interjected into the proceedings by the restiveness of the cavalrymen's chargers, which, unaccustomed to gun-fire, had become nervous.

By 11:35 o'clock the party, including Viscount Duncannon and Lady Moyra Ponsonby, son and daughter of the Earl and Countess, was on the Rideau Hall, preceded by the escort of cavalrymen.

The city was "en fete." Flags and bunting streamed everywhere along the section the party traversed on the way to Government House.

DINNER ARRANGED
Ottawa, April 7.—The Earl and Countess of Beesborough have accepted an invitation to dine at Government House, Ottawa, on Tuesday evening. The host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, will be the guests of honor. Guests at the first dinner of the Governor-General and his consort will number about sixty. It is understood.

Vancouver, April 7.—Acting on information that an attempt was to be made to hold up the money car of the B.C.E.R. Company, police rushed to Carrall and Hastings Streets at 9:30 a.m. to-day.

The robbers failed to materialize, but Detectives A. Rae, J. Fletcher and Constable J. Kelly arrested one man for investigation in connection with the report.

KING OF SIAM VISITS JAPAN

He and Queen, Bound For Victoria, Welcomed at Tokio

Tokio, April 7.—Twenty-one guns boomed a salute of welcome to-day to the King and Queen of Siam when they arrived at Yokohama aboard the liner Empress of Japan en route to Victoria and Vancouver, B.C., from where they plan to go to Baltimore for a delicate operation on the king's eyes by a specialist.

Their majesties traveled to Tokio in a special train. Thousands of school children, boy scouts and reservists lined the route to the railway station, waving Siamese and Japanese flags.

GUESTS AT PALACE
The Siamese rulers were met at the Tokio station by Prince and Princess Chichibu. They and their suite of fifteen will be guests of the nation during their two-day stay at Kasuga Palace, which is used for royal visitors.

King Prajadhipok will be received by Emperor Hirohito to-morrow and will be decorated with the highest imperial honor, the Chrysanthemum necklace of the Grand Order of Merit. The Siamese queen will receive the crown of the First Order of Merit later in the day.

BUDDHIST CEREMONIES
The visiting couple also will attend the coronation of the new emperor, celebrating the 2,498th birthday of Buddha. The event will be celebrated on a more elaborate scale than usual in honor of the king, who is the only Buddhist monarch in the world and claimed to be a descendant of Gautama Buddha.

Approximately 100,000 Buddhists will participate in a flower festival in Hibiya Park here.

The steamship Empress of Japan, carrying the King and Queen of Siam, is scheduled to arrive at Victoria April 17 and proceed the same day to Vancouver.

MAN AND SEVEN CHILDREN DIE AS HOME BURNS

Gallipolis, Ohio, April 7.—A father and seven of his children were burned to death to-day when fire destroyed their log cabin home on Swan Creek, ten miles from here. The father was James White, fifty-nine.

The cabin, located on the bank of the Ohio River, quickly burned and the victims had no opportunity to escape. In addition to White, those who were killed were Mr. twenty, James, 18; John, fourteen; Ira, nine; Mae, five, and twin daughters, Nora and Dora, three.

One George, twelve, although seriously burned, sounded an alarm. Neighbors rushed to the scene, but by the time they arrived the cabin was on fire and they could do nothing to effect a rescue.

The cause of the blaze has not been determined.

New York, April 7.—McKesson & Robbins Inc., one of the largest and oldest drug manufacturing and distributing organizations, reports net earnings for 1930 of $1,878,785, a 10 per cent increase over 1929.

While net profit for 1930 showed a decline from 1929, the company stated that "operations so far this year (1931) would indicate that the present dividend rate of 8 per cent on the common stock is being maintained."

CHANCELLOR OF GERMANY IS TO VISIT LONDON

London, April 7.—It was stated in Downing Street to-day there was no question of holding a four-power or three-power conference in London for the discussion of European affairs.

Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson has invited Chancellor Brüning to come to London to discuss the general European situation in relation to disarmament and it was stated these informal conversations were planned for May or perhaps June. The meeting, it was insisted, would be purely Anglo-German.

It was said in Paris to-day it was expected Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, would attend the conference in London, and that Dino Ciano might represent Italy.

It was on results the teacher's worth must be judged, said Mr. Nicholas. And from this it could be seen that teaching profession in its relation to human progress was more efficient than many of the other professions which were tired of criticizing education.

Big business had always been represented as being the height of efficiency and yet during the last ten years "big business men with governments playing second fiddle have led the world into an economic morass from which it is difficult to escape and it does not know where it is. And however much they disagree on this they all agree that the cost of education is too high—and particularly in this province where the annual education bill is only half the annual liquor bill."

"There are 20,000,000 people out of work, millions are hungry, and yet the food depots of the world are bursting with supplies. The distribution system, under big business leadership, has broken down. But at school we still have a food five made ten, and that it is not sound logic to buy $10,000 worth of stock with a $10 bill."

The war, he said, showed inefficiency in political leadership. "From these contrasts the teaching profession can draw an inference of efficiency," he said.

IN CANADA'S PROGRESS
Dealing with the relationship of teachers to the progress of Canada, Mr. Nicholas said this country's development in the last twenty-five years had been no noteworthy as to attract the attention of the whole world as it has been on political, but on social and economic lines.

"In 1871," he continued, "the illiteracy of people over ten years of age was twenty per cent in Canada. In 1921, it was only five per cent, and now, I hope, it is even less."

"If our record of achievement means anything it implies an unusual quality of citizenship in the Canadian people, and the teachers have been a decisive factor in producing that record. I know of no other country in which the school has played so clear a mark on the national character. This generation should pay deep tribute to the pioneer teachers who have contributed so much to that progress."

PROFESSIONAL CONVENTION
Canada had 2,400,000 school students, 79,000 teachers and 10,000 teacher training institutions. The teachers were now becoming professionally conscious, and whether or not the profession was as profitable or held as much opportunity for power and prestige as did other professions to which some teachers aspired, their own calling was of unexcelled importance to the country.

There was some criticism of our educational system, Mr. Nicholas said, but teachers did not make educational systems. The speaker thought the present system required the schools to cover too much ground in too short a time, and bound teachers too closely to examinations. Whatever changes were made, however, in the present educational system in this country should be based primarily upon Canadian requirements and conditions for the promotion of the kind of citizenship Canada needed most.

$1.50 A BUSHEL
The Manchester Guardian said: "The quota, as an item of government policy, was certainly undecided when the Imperial Economic Conference was held at Ottawa. It is estimated a price of at least fifty shillings a quarter (roughly $1.50 for the Canadian bushel) is necessary to make the quota worth while to the British farmers, and if the world price is higher, that, either the consumers or the taxpayers would have to pay the difference on the fifteen per cent quota, if that is the proportion decreed."

The Guardian suggested that if the government should decide on the quota and obtain the consent of Parliament to it, the conference should plan the question of the empire quota outside the competence of the Imperial Conference would then be removed, "so has been the same regime at Ottawa it will likely hear more about it."

WHEAT GROWERS FACE OVERBURDENED MARKET FOR 1931 WORLD CROP

Washington, April 7.—Despite a prospective three per cent reduction in domestic wheat acreage, American growers again will compete in an overburdened world market with the exportable surplus of their 1931 crop.

The agriculture department, in estimating the total winter and spring wheat acreage indicated for harvest in this country at 57,441,000 acres as compared with 59,153,000 last year, said to-day there was little change in the world situation.

Despite indicated smaller plantings in Canada and the southern hemisphere, the department foresaw little possibility unless low yields per acre developed for a removal of the world surplus which has had a depressing effect on prices here and abroad. The department estimated the total wheat sown this spring at 17,862,000 acres as compared with 20,545,000 in 1930. This reduction, nearly 14 per cent, has brought expressions of satisfaction from both Secretary Hyde and C. C. Teague, vice-chairman of the Farm Board who have been waging a campaign for limitation of production.

The board in announcing it would make no stabilization purchases from the new crop, gave warning to the farmers they alone could stabilize prices through crop reduction.

The department said there was a likelihood of Russia increasing its 1931 acreage and a possibility of an exportable carry-over remaining in that country from last year's unusually heavy production.

CANADIANS JAPAN SURVEY THEIR FIELD

Hon. Herbert M. Marler Is
Speaker at Annual Meeting of Association in Tokio

By PERCY WHITEING
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent
Tokio, March 26.—(By Mail)—The second annual general meeting of the Canadian Association of Japan, held yesterday evening in the chancellery of the Canadian Legation here, marked another milestone in the history of this representative body of Canadians in this country.

The meeting was presided over by the honorary president, Hon. Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to Japan, and D. E. Ross, president of the association.

COMMITTEE NAMED
The committee elected for the ensuing year consists of G. S. Patterson, president; Richard Hubert, vice-president; Kenneth Kirkwood, secretary of the Canadian Legation; honorary secretary-treasurer, Mill Emma Kaufman and G. E. Bott. Mr. Marler continues as honorary president.

The meeting was marked by much enthusiasm and demonstrated the solidarity of the Canadian community here.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. Marler made some observations regarding the activities of Canadians in Japan, pointing out that while Canadians might not be numerous in Japan as some other nationalities, yet they were engaged in important work of diversified kinds, and that Canada's interests here, on that account, were great.

The minister referred to various trips made to various parts of Japan and China, by himself and others of the legation, which had had the satisfactory result of making Canada much better known in Japan and elsewhere in the Orient.

He mentioned the knowledge of Canada and the legation, which had been the effective support they had given him. He commented with gratification on the splendid work being done by Canadians in Japan in trade, education, missions and many other endeavors. He emphasized that all these activities were promoting knowledge of Canada and were of inestimable assistance to those with whom they came in contact.

TRADE MISSION

Mr. Marler summed up the results of the visit of the Canadian Trade mission last year as being highly satisfactory, and expressed pride in the quality of the personnel of the delegation and the excellent impression it had made here.

He dwelt on the co-operation that exists between the Canadian Legation and the British Embassy in Tokio and all British officials in the Far East. Mr. Marler emphasized how satisfactory that co-operation had been and his pride in the statement made by the retiring British Ambassador, Sir John Dill, the night before he left Tokio.

"That wherever there is a Canadian minister, there the prestige of the British Empire will be raised, and Mr. Marler also commented on the great courtesies he and the Legation had received from the Japanese Government and people.

NEW TRIAL IS GIVEN YOUTH

Valparaiso, Ind., April 7.—Virgil Kirkland, Gary youth once convicted of killing his school girl sweetheart, was awaiting a new trial to-day instead of being under sentence of life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

Judge Grant Crumacker yesterday granted the twenty-year-old steel mill worker another chance to prove to a jury his claim that he is innocent of the death of Arlene Draves, eighteen, who lost her life after a drinking party in Gary last November 29.

Had the court denied Kirkland's plea for a new trial it would have pronounced the jury's mandatory sentence of life imprisonment as an act of life imprisonment.

Judge Crumacker ruled the jury had voted the conviction on insufficient evidence. He said in his opinion Kirkland's bungling methods showed he had not planned the killing, but had struck the girl an unpremeditated blow on the jaw which caused her to die of a cranial hemorrhage incurred by the blow.

He also mentioned that Kirkland had immediately notified the girl's relatives.

"No motive has been assigned why Kirkland should want to kill the girl," he said. "If he did not intend to kill her he could not be convicted under the first count of the indictment. He was as surprised as any one else at her death."

The court set the trial for April 29.

RED PROPAGANDA IN SCHOOLS OF TORONTO HUNTED

Toronto, April 7.—Charges that Communist propaganda was being insinuated into Toronto schools and colleges through foreign pupils were aired at a meeting of the Old Boys' Association of a local school yesterday evening.

"Within my knowledge, Communist pamphlets attacking religion and British institutions have found their way into local colleges and technical schools," said T. J. Bragg, secretary-treasurer of Famous Players Canadian Corporation and a past president of the association.

Other executives endorsed his remarks at the meeting. Commenting on the charges, Zeph Hilton, chairman of the Toronto Board of Education, said immediate investigation would be made by the board, if there was any foundation for the charges. He could not conceive the possibility of disloyalty being displayed in schools and colleges here.

NO POWER RATE INCREASE FOR MANITOBIANS

Legislature Is Assured Government Watching Changes in Control

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, April 7.—The Manitoba government is prepared to take vigorous action to protect the provincial hydro-electric system and current low power rates, Hon. D. G. McKenzie, Minister of Natural Resources, declared in the Legislature yesterday evening after opposition speakers had expressed alarm at "inroads" by the Insull interests of Chicago into Manitoba power interests.

Announcement that the Insull Company had acquired a substantial block of Winnipeg Electric Company stock was made yesterday.

Precautions already taken to preserve low rates for electricity in the province would be strengthened if necessary, Mr. McKenzie said. Lease of the Seven Sisters power site, held by the Northwestern Power Company, Winnipeg Electric subsidiary, would be cancelled "should the terms of the lease be varied in any respect."

If the government should consider the situation serious, he said, the powers of the Public Utilities Commission to prevent power and light rates from being increased, no matter what interests might be in control of the Winnipeg Electric or Northwestern Power Company, would be strengthened.

Mr. McKenzie assured the House no further priority rights would be granted in connection with the White Mud Falls power site on the Nelson River, when the present permit to Sir Reginald Brade's British syndicate expires. Steps would be taken by the government to preserve land around the White Mud site.

WORK OF U.B.C. THEME OF TALK BY PATTULLO

Provincial Liberal Leader Delivers First of Series of Addresses Over Radio

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 7.—T. D. Pattullo, M.P.P., provincial Liberal leader, broadcast the first of a series of addresses on provincial topics, spoke yesterday evening on the work being accomplished by the University of British Columbia.

"The viewpoint that only a small percentage of our freshmen are fit university material is appallingly inaccurate," Mr. Pattullo said. "It indicates a narrow conception of what education is," he declared.

"I doubt if there are really any who present themselves for university work who do not benefit in some degree therefrom. The germ of a single idea may be the means of stabilizing character years after the university course is completed."

RESULT OF MISCONCEPTION

Introducing his address with a review of the arguments which have been advanced against university education, Mr. Pattullo said the consensus of enlightened opinion was that university training was desirable. He cited the opposition to university training which has developed in this province, adding that it was based on the misconception that its proper function was to fit students with training which could immediately be capitalized in dollars and cents.

"The building of character and the power to think lucidly, Mr. Pattullo said, were the essential products of a university education.

"And the youth who has passed through the university, while generally considered to have finished his education, has really just begun it," he said.

"He has been put to the test and to discipline and training which will enable him the better to educate himself. In other words, university training merely furnishes the groundwork for the determination of their life's vocation. To push them unceremoniously out into the world and deny them an arts course merely because they have not been able to make the grade is to a degree calling would not appear to be the part of wisdom."

"More theory on education is not sufficient," Mr. Pattullo asserted. "It should be as far as possible, be practically applied."

PEOPLE'S UNIVERSITY

"In British Columbia we have our own university. Instead of setting it aside as something apart from the people, it should be looked on as the people's university. Within our reasonable means, it should be given every scope and opportunity to function for the benefit of the people."

"The University of British Columbia is young as universities go, but within the time and means at its disposal has made a tremendous progress. That the university will require to meet changed conditions from time to time is self-evident, but I am firmly convinced the interest of our people lies in rallying to the support of the university to the fullest possible extent, in order that its practical and cultural advantages may reach the fullest fruition."

NO BACKWARD STEP

In conclusion, Mr. Pattullo said: "Nothing was of greater concern to our forefathers than their children should have a free and equal opportunity to secure an education. We are too prone to take such victories as they won for granted. We must guard against any retrograde step."

Covering a ground area of 570 by 360 feet, a windowless factory will be erected in a Massachusetts city, elaborate lighting and ventilating systems being provided.

PIONEER AUTO DRIVER NEARS FORT WILLIAM

G. McManus, Atlantic-to-
Pacific Across Canada, Now in Rough Country

Port William, Ont., April 7.—A dispatch from Nipigon states that, after weeks of heart-breaking work, G. McManus, successor to Harry Needham as driver of the first automobile attempting to cross Canada under its own power, is expected to arrive here about April 13. McManus has driven his car to within a few miles of Orient Bay, on the southerly tip of Lake Nipigon.

He snowshoed into Hydro, arriving there on the night of Friday, April 3, in order to obtain further supplies for his car. Ploughing through snow and underbrush and through the extremely rough country east of Lake Nipigon, McManus arrived at Port McDaniel, about three miles up the lake from Orient Bay, last Thursday.

On the morning of Friday he left by dog team for Sault Lookout and snowshoed from that point to Hydro, about forty miles. Hydro is twelve miles north of Nipigon village.

McManus expects to emerge from the rough stretch of land between Port McDaniel and Hydro in the next few days.

A. B. FALL MAY APPEAL YEAR TERM IN JAIL

Washington, April 7.—The appeal of Albert B. Fall, former U.S. Interior Secretary, from a sentence of a year in jail and a $100,000 fine for accepting an oil bribe, was denied yesterday by the district of Columbia Court of Appeals.

At the same time the court affirmed the conviction of Henry B. Blackmer, former official of the Mid-West Refining Company, who was fined $60,000 for contempt of court in refusing to return from France to testify for the government in the celebrated oil trials of Fall and Harry F. Sinclair, wealthy oil man.

Whether the decision against the sixty-nine-year-old Fall, an invalid, who has secluded himself on his New Mexico ranch, will be appealed to the Supreme Court was not announced. His counsel, Frank J. Hogan, was in Europe, but was informed by cable of the court's action. The conviction of Blackmer will be appealed.

The Court of Appeals has fifteen days to invoke the mandate which might send Fall to the penitentiary. Should a writ of certiorari be sought from the Supreme Court—for which three months is allowed—steps might be taken to keep the former Interior Secretary out of prison pending the highest court's decision.

OIL LEASE DEAL

Fall was convicted of accepting a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny, millionaire oil operator, to influence the signing of a lease on the naval oil reserves at Elk Hills, Calif. The court yesterday over-ruled virtually every objection advanced by Fall's attorneys to his conviction.

The decision against Blackmer likewise was a sweeping affirmation of his conviction. Associate Justice Charles H. Robb, who wrote the opinion, contended Blackmer must have known his testimony would be wanted when he left the country in 1924. The former Denver oil man later was served twice with subpoenas in France, but refused to return.

Alberta Hears
Of Another
Gas Scheme

Edmonton, April 7.—If approval is given by Premier Brownlee to an immense power project in Southern Alberta, the province will be the scene of Mining and Smelting Company, where by all the waste gas from the Turner Valley would be utilized for the generation of power, a plant will be commenced within ninety days after the granting of approval and 70,000 horsepower will be generated within a year, according to R. Crowe-Swords, representative of the Hercules Company.

"We plan, at the outset, to spend not less than $10,000,000, and ultimately, within a period of about five years, to spend approximately $100,000,000 on this project," Crowe-Swords stated. "The company is abundantly financed by European capital."

The plan as outlined by Mr. Crowe-Swords is to force all the concentrated waste gas in Turner Valley into one pipe-line. The gas, under tremendous pressure, would be forced against a specially designed wheel. Released, the gas would then be carried on to another station. For the generation of power, the gas would be used over and over again, Crowe-Swords said.

Death For Two Black Magic Men

Patna, India, April 7.—Two local wizards to-day were sentenced to death for having made a living sacrifice of a young boy in the practice of their black magic.

Evidence showed the sorcerers had first kidnapped the boy and then murdered him on Bhushi ridge, which is considered auspicious for sacrifices. The head of the boy was severed with one stroke of the knife, as is the case in goat sacrifices. The remaining part of the body was then thrown in a well.

AN IMPORTANT BODY

ONE OF THE PLEASING FEATURES marking the opening of the twelfth annual convention of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening was the conferring upon Dr. E. B. Paul, principal emeritus of Victoria College, of an honorary membership in the organization. It was a graceful recognition on the part of this important body of the long and valuable service Dr. Paul has rendered to the cause of education generally.

The teachers' federation has every reason to be gratified with the results of its work since its inception more than a decade ago. It has obviously raised the standard of the teaching profession, furnished useful machinery for dealing with the various problems peculiar to that profession, while the common interest which it has developed among its membership unquestionably has been most useful.

An annual gathering of this kind, however, is not only of importance to those who take part in its deliberations. It is of more than passing interest to the youth of the province and to the public at large. It permits of a frank exchange of view between the members of the teaching profession, a pooling of ideas which must be mutually beneficial. It also is a reminder to the taxpayers that everything possible is being done to insure the most efficient service in the schools.

Too often a section of the public imagines that because school teachers get two months' respite from their labors in the summer, their job is something of a sinecure. The nature of the teachers' responsibility is not always taken into account. It is sometimes forgotten that the direction of the studies of their pupils is only a part of the daily grind; yet, for many hours every week it is the task of the teacher to be something of the parent as well, and that requires the application of a sympathetic understanding of the young mind—a knowledge of how to deal with it under all circumstances during its most impressionable period.

Much of the business of the convention now in session, therefore, naturally will be devoted to aspects of the teaching profession with which the public is not always familiar, but in which it has a direct interest. It is hoped, by the way, that the deliberations of the convention will be successful in every respect, and that the delegates will have a profitable and enjoyable time while in Victoria.

AN UNFORTUNATE DECISION

AFTER DECIDING THAT HE WOULD take twelve, then five, with him to the Round-Table Conference in London, Mahatma Gandhi proposes to go alone in the hope that he will be able to repeat there the success he achieved in his recent dealings with Lord Irwin. He frankly told his most intimate colleagues that his reason for setting five as the size of the delegation he intended to take with him—the All-India National Congress is entitled to fifteen—was that he did not want an "unhappy group." He has eliminated every possibility of this by deciding to leave even the five behind.

The Mahatma has caused a storm of protest among his most faithful followers, while his critics among his own compatriots are taking no pains to disguise their hostility to his role of dictator. Gandhi's sincerity of purpose, of course, is not seriously disputed. He has staked everything on his mission and is ready to forfeit his life if his cause shall fail. But he is making the mistake of ignoring the fundamental principle which is reflected in the desire of the people of India to govern themselves. They have seen in the new toleration, as represented by the wish of the most influential leaders of public thought in Great Britain for India to become a Dominion within the British empire, the dawn of a new and brighter day. What is annoying them now, however, is the spectacle of Gandhi himself substituting his own dictatorship for what they consider is the dictatorship of the present viceroy. To them, dictatorship, be it that of Lord Irwin or that of their own Nationalist leader, is not altered by a change of dictators. In this view they are on sound ground.

Before the time comes for him to leave for London, Mr. Gandhi, by sheer force of pressure from his most intimate colleagues, may change his mind and take some advisers with him. If he really desires to achieve what he has set out to achieve, and there can be no doubt about it, he will need the support of a united people behind him. By going to London alone he will run the risk of alienating much practical co-operation which he hitherto has enjoyed.

THE "STATUS" CONFERENCE

THE CONFERENCE NOW BEING HELD in Ottawa between representatives of the Dominion and the provinces is for the purpose of considering in final detail the status of Canada among the British Dominions and her constitutional relationship with Great Britain in particular.

At the Imperial Conference in 1926 it was clearly defined that the Dominions "are autonomous communities within the British empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another in any aspect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by a common allegiance to the Crown, and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

While this declaration confirmed a constitutional condition which had operated in fact, but which had not been set down in legislation, there still remained certain constitutional anomalies that were in conflict with the letter of this definition of Dominion status. The declaration, for instance, did not wipe from the statutes of Great Britain the Colonial Laws Validity

Act, which gives the government at Westminster power to declare null and void any part of a Dominion statute "repugnant to the provisions of any imperial statute operative in the Dominion." A further conference was held in 1929 when this point was again discussed and the agreement eventually reached last year that the British government, subject to the wish of the Dominions, would do away with such constitutional anomalies as still existed in the constitutions of the Dominions, leaving them complete masters in their own houses.

Quebec and Ontario, however, got a little restless and felt that if the British government cut the last constitutional tie—outside of the right to take certain legal cases to the Privy Council in London—the power would be given to the Parliament of Canada to amend the British North America Act when it felt so disposed without consulting the provinces. So it was agreed that the British government, as far as Canada is concerned, should not be asked to repeal the Colonial Laws Validity Act until all the provinces had consented unanimously to such action being taken. Incidentally, when this act shall be repealed, another imperial statute encroaching upon the constitutional rights of the Dominions, the Merchant Shipping Act of 1894, will go with it.

The conference now in session at Ottawa, therefore, has been called by the Dominion Prime Minister to enable the provincial Premiers to talk the whole matter over and record their views. To all intents and purposes, however, it is merely a matter of form, and the request for which the British government is waiting no doubt will promptly follow.

CHILDHOOD KEEPSAKES

THE MAN WHO IS WISE WILL NEVER keep the books he used to read as a child. Most of us have a collection of those old books; dog-eared and broken-backed, they lie in a dusty corner of the attic, or down beneath faded keepsakes in some trunk, awaiting inspection at our leisure. It is really better not to look at them.

To be sure, a reinspection of them awakens pleasant memories. But it brings up, as well, melancholy reminders of lost innocence and lost credulity. It reminds a man, too emphatically, of the impassable gulf that lies between his present state and his brave beginnings.

The pictures are the worst. You go to your store of childhood keepsakes and you take down some such book as "The Wizard of Oz," or "Treasure Island," or "Alice in Wonderland"; and as you look at the pictures there comes back the memory of the way in which you used to look at them—the ecstatic belief with which you inspected the Emerald City of Oz, the pleased wonder that the Walrus and the Carpenter evoked, the delightful horror that rose up at sight of Long John Silver.

Now this, of course, is highly enjoyable. But the memories of those old-time thrills are inevitably depressing. They bring to mind too clearly the difference between the world as it looks now and the world as it looked then.

For a child, looking at pictures in some such books as those named above, is preparing to explore new ground. He knows, usually, that the world is not quite as the books portray it. There is no magic land of Oz for him to seek adventure in; he cannot go down a rabbit's burrow and encounter musical mock turtles and animated chessmen; he probably will never hunt buried treasure and fall in with desperate pirates. He knows these things, and they do not bother him.

But the point is that his high expectations of the world are not, by that knowledge, diminished. His story books may not give him a true picture of the world, but he is confident that it will be quite as fine a place as they say it is, only in a different way.

So the grown-up, looking at the old books, remembers his high hopes—and is compelled, in spite of himself, to contrast them with reality. And he discovers, once more, that he has been duped. Nothing has turned out to be quite as fine and bright and gay as he had supposed it would. He himself has not cut the figure he had planned to cut. Somewhere things have gone wrong.

Every sensible adult, naturally, is aware of all of this anyway. But it hurts to be reminded of it too poignantly; and nothing does the trick quite as quickly and completely as a backward glance at the books one read a generation ago.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

CANADA AND FRANCE

The Ottawa Journal

To Honorable Charles Arsenault, Minister from France, and to his gracious consort, a much warmer and heartier welcome than the courtesies of diplomatic civility! Welcome them to Canada for the sake of national friendship, and for that intercourse which is mutually profitable, but behind our greetings to them are the deeper and more abiding things that eternally bind us to France. Canadians can never forget that the epic pages of their story are those which tell of the explorers, soldiers and missionaries who, with sword and crucifix in hand, discovered and conquered and Christianized this land, left a heritage of unforgettable heroism. And there is something more. Over in France is a bit of land that will be forever Canada. There are poppies there, and crosses, but there are maple, too, and memories; memories that will not diminish with the vista of the years.

For these reasons, because of what France is and has been and will remain, Canada welcomes her envoy. May his stay among us be a pleasure and bring profit, strengthening and enriching the union of two nations who are friends, and something more.

CHURCH ARCHITECTURE

The Montreal Canada

(In consequence of the many church fires in the Ottawa district, the Roman Catholic bishop has given instructions that all churches erected in the diocese shall in future be constructed of incombustible materials.) This is an excellent provision, as church property is usually well insured. But the use of incombustible materials will be very inconvenient if we continue to build such hideous churches. A barn of wood can be burnt down, and all the owner has to do is to erect something not so hideous. But a stately building of masonry or brick or steel and concrete stays forever. In less than two hundred years from now the loveliest churches dating back to the days before the Reformation, and to the period 1760-1867, still influenced by the French taste, will all have disappeared; lightning, defective electrical installations, put in by dishonest contractors in collusion with church wardens of the same character, will have done their work. If nothing remains then but formless masses of stone or steel to remind them of our traditions, our descendants will assuredly regret having had such uninteresting ancestors.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

April 7, 1906

(From The Times Files)

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity:

Fresh westerly winds, partly cloudy and colder at night.

London, April 7.—The sixty-third annual boat race between crews representing the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge was rowed to-day over the usual course from Putney to Mortlake on the Thames, a distance of little over four and one-half miles, and was won by Cambridge by three and one-half lengths after an exciting race. Time 20 minutes 24 seconds.

Captain S. Balm received telegraphic advices from his brother, Captain Rube Balm, who a year or so ago brought the whaling steamer Orion out to this coast from Norway; announced the latter's arrival at the Falkland Islands with 688 sealskins. The pelts were taken by the schooner Edith R. Balm, of which Captain R. Balm is master.

As a result of his recent trip and of living met while away many old Victoria boys, several of them in prominent positions, Herbert Cuthbert, secretary of the Victoria Tourist Association, has conceived possibly one of the best schemes that has yet been thought of for advertising the city. In brief the proposition is this: To secure the addresses of all former Victorians, arrange for a celebration, say some time this fall, extend an invitation to all to attend it, and incidentally see the improvements which have recently been made here. By way of increasing the spectacle rates from all railway companies might be obtained.

R.M.S. Empress of China left Yokohama for Victoria to-day.

There was a large attendance at the annual meeting of the Central Lacrosse Club held last evening at the Y.M.C.A. rooms, Broad Street. After some discussion it was decided to organize for the coming season.

SINGLE TAX

To the Editor:—Re Alexander Hamilton's letter your issue, April 3, bolstering his single tax creed and deprecating my advocacy of the same. The full assessment value of both land and improvements.

At this juncture a few extracts from our city annual reports will be instructive, and furnish Mr. Hamilton and others like minded with food for thought. 1910 report, total assessed value, $37,891,042, rate 26.25; 1911 report, total assessed value, $50,007,985, rate 24.00; 1914 report, total assessed value, $115,958,930, rate 22.35; 1929 report, total assessed value, $55,810,947, rate 41.00.

Last-named report says, "Levy from 1911 to 1921 was on 100 per cent land assessment. The rate of 22.35 per cent was levied for 1922 and 1923 was on land 100 per cent and on improvements 33 1-3 per cent of assessment."

"Levy from 1924 to 1929 was on land 100 per cent of assessment and on improvements fifty per cent of assessment." Extract from 1922 report: "In the early part of the year some leading citizens contributed the sum of $2,500 for the purpose of retaining the services of Dr. Shortt of Ottawa to make an investigation and report on the financial position of the city. As a result of his suggestion the tax on improvements was again instated. The report did depict a race against the clock to secure a reduction of the supposed system of single tax in vogue in Victoria, and attributed most of the financial ills of the city to this method of taxation."

The late Dr. Shortt had the honor of representing Canada as our economist in the League of Nations in Geneva. The joking with the assessment values and the rate as displayed above is discreditable. We deplore the fact that we are now up against the stone wall of the statutory limitation imposed by the Provincial Legislature prohibiting improvements being taxed over fifty per cent of their value, provoking continued surrender of vacant land and reduction of ratepayers, narrowing not broadening taxation.

A system of taxation which divides ratepayers into two classes, one of whom are taxpayers and beneficiaries is unsound, unjust and inequitable. A government like ours which adopts a system like that of the Province, the present inequitable one for its subordinate municipalities is lacking in consistency at least.

If you can please find space for this letter I will be much obliged.

JOHN DEAN.

ALASKA IN TROUBLE

To the Editor:—Space has recently been given in the press to conditions in Point Barrow, Alaska, where diphtheria is raging. This recalls the incident at Nome, Alaska, in 1925. Newspapers reported a frantic call for antitoxin, which could apparently only be obtained by a race against death with dog teams. The animals were said to have endured great hardships, the dog Balto being specially mentioned as a hero. One day per showed a picture of forty children awaiting the arrival of the antitoxin, with the words "many of these perished" below the picture. At the time twenty-two children and five adults were reported. The final note in this story was the erection of a statue to the dog, Balto. A gold medal, we are told, was awarded to each of the relay-drivers participating in the romantic adventure, but—

Now for another light on this story! The St. Francis Daily News of February 7, 1925, explains it thus: The former editor of Nome Gold Digger pointed out in a letter that people died in 1925 from a completely new disease resembling influenza, under drinking filthy water and living under bad conditions. Other papers commented on the conditions and the New York City public (February 25) waxed satirical: "The most spectacular and attention-holding method of transportation to carry the so-called antitoxin was by dog sled, even if it took more time than air travel. To the Graphic it looked more like a cleverly engineered piece of publicity for the sale of antitoxin."

It appears that an aviator informed

The Graphic office that he had offered to take in the serum to save time, but his offer was refused. Why? The Graphic, in its comment on American conditions, continues: "It has established that the use of serum in fighting diphtheria, is stated to be the sponsor of the gigantic publicity stunt."

On January 2, 1930, we read of another outbreak—this time in Fairbanks, Alaska, when an airplane performed the adventurous journey with the antitoxin. Only one case was reported. Other outbreaks of a similar nature have been recorded and now, in March, 1931, we learn of another outbreak of diphtheria, this time in Point Barrow.

Now, of recent years, "immunization" has become the cry, formerly by toxin-antitoxin, latterly with toxoid. Space forbids any reference to the suffering and death caused by those processes, or the cases of diphtheria which have developed in supposedly immune persons. But to return to the "Barrow" whole village" has been immunized, and yet many cases have developed. On March 21 there is said to be freedom from disease. On March 27, the disease has flared forth anew, although two airplanes have been tripping from Fairbanks with the supposed remedy.

If diphtheria in Alaska is a village, then there is something radically wrong with conditions, and these could and should be remedied. Diphtheria and immunization have long proclaimed their inability to save life, and also their power to kill. After hearing the story of Nome how much reliability can be placed on other stories of the kind? Have any persons in Point Barrow been rendered ill by the process of inoculation? Will they be so to be so treated?

In 1922 Greek refugees escaped to Smyrna. The League of Nations thereupon sent doctors and vaccinators and gave them the supplies and at a cost of some $14,000 they "forced the unwilling Greeks to submit to inoculation by providing that no refugee should be given bread until he or she could show proof of having been inoculated."

We read that people in Point Barrow should be given bread until he or she could show proof of having been inoculated. One can only hope these have not been withheld until the inoculations have been forced upon the inhabitants.

Serum and vaccine production constitute a profitable industry!

NO DEATH PENALTY

Detroit, April 7.—A proposal, backed by Governor Wilbur M. Barker, to re-establish the death penalty for murder in Michigan was defeated overwhelmingly in yesterday's spring election. The death penalty was abolished in the state decades ago, with life imprisonment remaining as the most severe punishment for murder. In contests for state offices, Republican candidates won over their Democratic opponents by large majorities.

TO DEVELOP RAILWAYS IN NEWFOUNDLAND

H. J. Russell Announces Plans For Development of Island

St. John's, Nfld., April 7.—Industrial development in Newfoundland through the use of refrigerators cars in shipping out consignments of frozen fish, and through settlement of fertile districts now thinly inhabited or without population, with a resultant increase in agricultural produce, is envisioned by H. J. Russell, general manager of the Newfoundland Railway. In a recent address, Mr. Russell voiced these views, and announced the railway's intention of carrying a train across country from St. John's to Port Aux Basques early in the summer laden with a hundred people who will spend a week on the journey, inspecting the country's industrial possibilities.

GETTING FISH TO MARKET

Mr. Russell pointed out that up to the present time the railway has had little to do with handling fish, the chief product of Newfoundland, or getting it to market. Since completion of the cross-country railway in 1927 various industries have sprung up, their total value almost equaling that of the fisheries. "It is recognized to-day," he said, "that the development of our fishery has not kept pace with the advance in other major industries. Of the total catch landed each year it is estimated that not more than one-third of what might be utilized at a profit is thrown away. This cannot continue and we see signs to-day of a great change in the old methods of preparing and marketing the catch, and more attention being given to the value of the by-product. With the aid of refrigeration we see fresh salmon and other fish delivered from the fishing ground to the home of the consumer thousands of miles away in an excellent fresh condition."

Capt. Blon spent the Easter holidays with his family at North Salt Spring. Miss Audrey Lewis of Victoria spent Easter with friends at Ganges. A. ## Saved On Raft Of Wreckage Of Sealer Viking

Two survivors of the Viking disaster off northern Newfoundland owe their lives to parts of the ship which floated after the vessel had gone down as a result of an explosion. On that raft, with a third man, they drifted among the ice floes for more than two days, when they were rescued by the sealer Sagona. The picture above, said to be unique, was taken from the deck of the Sagona. It shows the distress flag the men made of a piece of clothing, and beside it Henry J. Sargent, explorer, of Boston. He, Captain William Kennedy, navigator of the Viking, and Clayton King, radio operator of the lost sealer, were picked up. All were near the point of exhaustion. Capt. Kennedy died a few days later.

WARNS AGAINST STANDARDIZING OF STUDENTS

School Should Open Avenue For Individual Development, Teachers Told

Dr. Willard Brewster of Vancouver Addresses First Convention Session

"What we want to do is to culture the minds of the younger generation without fettering them, without standardizing them, without stultifying them and it takes real genius to do this," declared Dr. Willard Brewster, of Vancouver, in an address at the opening session of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation convention in the Empress hotel yesterday evening.

Dr. Brewster's address on "The Higher Culture" was warmly received by the large audience, which included the general public. He endeavored, he said, to tell something of the "dynamics" behind the teaching profession, rather than the mechanics.

"I know of no single group of people which holds the future in their hands like you do. I know of no group which lays such a basic and permanent foundation for the future. And there is a humanity which surrounds the whole profession," he said.

EDUCATION FOR MASSES

Dr. Brewster recalled that once culture was the privilege of the few, not of the many. He said that the poem, Gray's "Elegy" was the first protest in poetry against the closed doors for education for the masses. Now all these doors had been thrown open and education was thrust upon everyone rather than being sought after by a few.

In discussing culture generally, the speaker referred to the distortion which resulted sometimes from the effort of some groups to achieve the outstanding. In these days when everyone could have copies of the works of masters, in art, music and literature, this was noticeable. For instance, cubist art was a protest against the perfection of the great artists, futurist poetry and jazz music against the older style. But each of these reactions left some good deposit in the general advancement of civilization.

INDIVIDUALITY

Dealing with the question of standardization, he said the school was the place where seed should be sown and not where a finished factory product was turned out. There must be room for individual development and this was where the psychology of the teacher came into play. A desire should be aroused for knowledge and a companionship formed. He recalled that the prize-winning painting at the Chicago World Fair thirty years ago was painted by an artist who never went to an art school. Such genius, for instance, should not be subject to standardization methods.

RELIGION IN SCHOOLS

On the subject of religion in schools, Dr. Brewster said that no teacher in the present generation could teach school without teaching Christianity. In art, literature and history it was predominant and it was impossible to avoid dealing with it. He pointed out that both Alfred Tennyson and John Massfield had won poet laureateships for works which dealt religion as their primary ingredient. It permeated all the school work and was, therefore, as much a part of it as the work itself.

Nurses Visit Mental Home At Essondale

New Westminster, April 7.—Nurses in attendance at the annual conference of the Graduate Nurses' Association of British Columbia in session here made a visit to the Mental Hospital here this morning and made a thorough inspection of the building taking particular note of the vocational guidance work, which in a large measure is helping to bring patients back to normal by the recognized idea that a mind which is occupied, is a happy mind, and the patient's mental condition is improved by the knowledge of its usefulness. This afternoon the speakers will include Miss Ethel C. Pipes of the Vancouver General Hospital, Dr. W. A. Robertson and Dr. H. J. Coleman.

Relief from Gas Stomach Pains Dizziness

The doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are likely to get sick unless you relish food and digest it properly.

Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles, even those of years' standing.

Mr. Alex. Krenbrenk, Clavel, Sask., writes: "Constant indigestion and cramps just about doubled me up. I lost weight; nerves were on edge; felt tired all the time. TANLAC brought back my healthy, vigorous self again; meals digested easily; cramps gone to good."

If you suffer from gas, pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, nausea, constipation, or torpid liver; if you have no appetite, can't sleep and are nervous and all run down, you need Tanlac. It is good, pure medicine made of roots, herbs and barks. Get a bottle from your druggist to-day. Money back if it doesn't help you.

Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8, 1931

Kindly stars shine on the planet Earth to-day, according to astrology. It is a time to make the best use of every opportunity. It is read as a fairly lucky time for business and the summer indicates unprecedented travel.

Neptune is in a place supposed to be most favorable to producers of oil. New discoveries of great value are foretold.

This is a day in which to plan big things. For vision is supposed to be clear. The inclination toward optimism should be curbed where speculation tempts to heavy investments.

What one shall eat and what one shall drink will be discussed more generally than in the past. New ideas of diet will be promulgated. It is prophetic.

Under the direction of the stars interest in reforms may be intense and bitter political discussions may be prevalent.

Those who sign leases or contracts to-day may expect much good luck. Agreements of every sort, even engagements to marry are well directed by the stars.

Newspapers and publishers should profit greatly for astrologers foretell new combinations and wide-reaching co-operation.

Advertising continues subject to the best planetary influences and to-day should be especially lucky for all sorts of publicity.

The stars again call attention to the fact that women are now in a period of business and social transition.

Under the stars' guidance for emergence from strictly domestic environment women in business and the professions must now compete with men without hope of special favor, astrologers declare, while those in society must return to ancient conventions.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year that is prosperous. Advancement in financial matters is indicated. Children born on this day probably will be left in thought, generous and unselfish. Many subjects of this sign reach prominence in the year.

King Albert of Belgium was born on this day, 1875. Among others, the following are named as a birthday: David Rittenhouse, 1732, astronomer; Mary Pickford, 1892, motion picture star.

Continuing, Miss Campbell stated: "This association, which has always urged the necessity for preliminary education of nurses being the same as that required for other professions, has had in the past, for various reasons, to accept a lower standard, now the higher standard should be the only accepted one." Dr. Lapp, superintendent of the sanitarium at Tranquille, asked for co-operation in establishing affiliation for students from the various training schools in the province and several schools have taken advantage of this.

APPEAL MADE FOR FURNITURE

The Friendly Help Association is endeavoring to rehabilitate a family of six, who have been living in one room. To this end an appeal is made for a bed and bedding, a cookstove, table and chairs, and anyone having such articles for which they have no further use is kindly requested to get in touch with the secretary at the headquarters in the Market Building.

PSYCHIATRY IS BIG FACTOR IN NURSING

Dr. Irma Kennedy Tells
Graduate Nurses Emotions
Affect Illness

Intelligence Tests Suggested
For Student Nurses; Unemployment Discussed

Vancouver, April 7.—Delegates in attendance at the annual conference of the Graduate Nurses of British Columbia, which opened yesterday morning at New Westminster, came to the city yesterday evening for the annual banquet held in connection with the event and which took place at a downtown club. Crismon tulips and daffodils were used in the decorative scheme and the function was presided over by Miss M. P. Campbell, R.N., who introduced Dr. Irma Kennedy, who, in brief and concise manner, gave an outline of "Psychiatric Nursing."

The speaker divided psychiatric nursing into three qualifications, namely, "nursing," "nurse," and "nursed." The nursing angle, she said, was most technical and the nurse must put her technical knowledge into practice and be trained to apply all rules. At the present time, the speaker claimed, patients need mental treatment as well as physical, and in many instances a cure is quicker effected by correcting the mental attitude of the patient. To do this the nurse requires poise, adaptability, tact and accuracy in her work, and at all times the nurse must learn that her patient is always to be taken seriously.

Discussion followed. Dr. Kennedy's address in answer to a query, the speaker stated that the emotions most certainly have an effect upon illness and in some cases it was more important to keep the mind happy than the body comfortable, for she thought few doctors realized that mental suffering was greater than physical suffering.

CRIMINALS AND POLITICIANS
Referring to the necessity of mental examinations as compared with physical examinations, Dr. Kennedy stated: "You have physical examinations twice a year, but if you have a good mental examination it will do for life, for until we understand ourselves, we cannot understand anything in life. If some form of mental examination were compulsory I think we could eliminate the criminals and the politicians—by this I mean we could discover the criminals early in life and put them in institutions, and we could select statesmen instead of politicians."

Miss Fairley in moving the vote of thanks to the speaker said that all patients were mentally sick as well as physically sick, and she thought that side of a nurse's training had been sadly neglected. Statistics had proven, she said, that over fifty per cent of the patients in the dominion were mental cases and only ten per cent of the nurses had been trained in psychiatric nursing. The profession, she thought, had a long way to go before it gave the mentally sick patient his proper right, which was "good nursing."

HIGHER STANDARD URGED
Featuring the afternoon session was the paper given by Sister John Gabriel, R.N., B.A., educational director for the Sisters of Providence of the Northwest, who extended greetings from Seattle and spoke of the value of intelligence tests for the student nurse, advocating the use of these tests in selecting the fittest for entry into the profession.

In making reference to the psychological examinations held in training schools, Sister Gabriel deplored the small percentage of those reaching the required standard and urged that only those with more than the average intelligence should be allowed to continue with the curriculum.

Discussions which followed Sister Gabriel's paper were held by Miss Helen Randall and Miss Grace Fairley, the latter contending that the present situation of employment was largely due to the surplus of mediocre nurses and something should be done to remedy this and increase the standard of graduates.

Many of us attended the meeting of the Canadian Nurses' Association held last year in Regina, and we still await the result of the nursing survey, but with the knowledge that many changes are likely to be recommended, the educational section and special committees have spent much time on the subject of necessary educational requirements of candidates entering training schools and of applicants asking reciprocal registration," stated Miss M. P. Campbell, R.N. president, in her address.

OLD FAVORITES TO BE SUNG BY
SCHUBERT CLUB

The forthcoming recital of the Schubert Club in the Shrine Auditorium on Tuesday evening, April 14, at 8:15 o'clock, promises in every way to continue the high standard of musical entertainment that has always been the type of the club. Included in the programme are two old favorites, "Three Fishers" and "O That We Two Were Maying," and a third classical number, "On Wings of Song," recently added to their repertoire.

The greater number of choral pieces are from modern composers. The "Fountain," by Homer Barlett, and "Inspiration," by Otto Weik, each in his own way has given expression to his reaction to a mood—they are arresting to the ear and unusual in interval and sudden change of tempo, they do not "sing themselves," but have a subtle charm that grows with older acquaintance. Another number of this type is "The Wind Swept Wheat," a composition of ambitious proportions with great contrasts and expressing strong and intense emotions. The obligato solo for soprano is very beautiful, and will be sung by Mrs. H. Noel.

"Let All My Life Be Music" will also be repeated by popular request. "Night in the Desert," by Cyril Jenkins, expresses all that is most beautiful in modern song—the newer harmonies and dissonances, sudden changes of tempo, and of done with the greatest artistic reserve.

The soloist, Thomas Dunn, has included a group of modern songs in keeping with the spirit of modernism throughout the programme, amongst which are "Freights," by Maurice Besley; "Ecstasy," by Mrs. A. A. Beach; "The Seascape," by Tito Martelli, and "Song of the Open," by Frank Le Forge.

Lady Wyndham,
Noted Actress, Is Dead in London

London, April 7.—Lady Wyndham, widow of the actor-manager, Sir Charles Wyndham, and one of the best known British actresses, under the name of Mary Moore, died yesterday evening.

Mary Moore began playing in the provinces forty-five years ago, and became a leading actress at the Criterion shortly after coming to London. Her principal successes were as Ada Ingo in "David Garrick," Dorothy Cruikshank in "Rosemary," the Quakeress in "Wild Oats" and Lady Bagley in "Our Mr. Hepplewhite."

She became associated with Sir Charles Wyndham in the management of the Criterion and other theatres. He died in 1919 and five years later, after continued management of the theatres, she formed the Wyndham Theatres Limited, acting as chairman until her death.

War Heroine
Who Helped
Allies Is Dead

Miss Anne Scott-James, who, like Nurse Edith Cavell, with whom she was intimately acquainted, did splendid work for the British army and Allied generals during the war, has just died in Brussels, aged fifty-six years.

Though well aware that she would share the same fate as Nurse Cavell if caught by the Germans, Miss Scott-James carried on night and day her self-imposed task of getting hidden Allied soldiers out of Brussels and across the frontier.

Few of her large circle of friends were aware of the dangerous task in which she was engaged.

Wild Flowers Are Carpeting Open Spaces Here

With the advent of April and its alternating showers and sunshine the wild flowers which are such a delightful feature of this season in Victoria are springing up in all the odd corners wherever they can flaunt their colorful heads. Even in the vacant lots dotted throughout the downtown section, the lowly dandelion lifts its yellow head amid the fresh young green of rank grass.

It is at this season of the year that The Uplands district is well worth a visit, for under the oaks the lush grass is carpeted with a glorious pattern of vivid color, formed by the blue kamass, the golden yellow of the buttercup and the purple-pink of the "peacock," with occasionally a few erythroniums or wild lilies to give a touch of chastity to a brazen riot of color.

In Beacon Hill Park, the broom is beginning to burst forth in its golden glory and the buttercups and kamass are painting the landscape with nature's richest hues. After the rains of the last few days, the shrubs and hedges are beginning to burst forth in their vernal raiment, and the trees are burgeoning in sign that spring is speeding space.

Mrs. James Davis and her daughter, Mona, entertained on Saturday evening at her home on St. Lawrence Street, in honor of Mrs. Violet Berucci and her guest, Miss Evelyn Forsyth of Race Rocks Lighthouse, who is spending the Easter holidays in the city. Dainty refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all present.

COTTON IS SMART BOTH FOR SPORTS AND PARTY WEAR

Cotton is to be King of the Courts and Queen of the Ball this spring and summer, judging from the smart outfits shown at a recent style show at Gastonia.

Mrs. Mary Morris (left), modeled in the newest of all tennis frocks, a gleaming white pique combined with red, white and blue striped pique. The stripes were used to advantage through the waistline section and the skirt had fullness to allow speeding after tennis balls.

Mrs. Caldwell Ragan (right) showed a white organdie frock frivolous and pretty enough for any party. It was embroidered in black and trimmed with a black patent leather sash, a new touch quite arresting with the sheer organdie.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

IS YOUR BABY IDEAL?

The ideal is literally impossible of attainment. The ideal child, that model of beauty, deportment, and character, could be found only in the ideal household with ideal grandparents, parents, relatives, and playmates. No wonder we are still searching! The usual child, on the contrary, is seldom without flaws. He talks too soon or not soon enough. He is aggressive or overly timid. He eats too much or not at all. He is, in a word, human, and subject to the variable kind of conduct found in that aggravating creature.

Mrs. I. D. B. has a commonplace problem which mars her bliss. She confides, "My baby is now six and one-half months old. For six weeks after she was born she had at least eight movements daily. I gave her a dose of castor oil and she has been constipated ever since. She has always spit up her milk—she is breast-fed—even though fed on the four-hour plan. She gains as she should and sleeps well."

BABY'S DIET
"With her first and last feedings I give her seven teaspoonsful of oatmeal, with her other two feedings a tablespoon of spinach. She has egg yolk with her oatmeal, and one ounce of orange juice in two or water before her first and last feedings. Cod liver oil is also in her diet."

"What shall I do about the constipation? What can I do about her spitting up the orange juice and milk? Does she spit up because she is constipated?"

There is nothing wrong with your diet as outlined. Possibly you might improve the way in which you are feeding her. When do you give the cod liver oil and in what amounts? The most successful method of giving cod liver oil is to offer one-half teaspoonful after each of the four regular meals. Try that plan if you are doing differently.

One dose of castor oil could hardly constipate the baby for six months afterward. Something else has been changed. You said the gain was adequate but did not mention what it was. Spitting up and constipation go hand in hand, but constipation follows spitting up when the latter results in a marked decrease in the child's nutrition. There could be no other connection between them.

FEED FOODS FIRST
In addition to changing the way of dosing cod liver oil, try feeding the additional foods before the nursing. If you nurse the baby first, it is possible that she satisfies herself at the breast, and the additional foods are just excess, easily spit up. If the foods are given first, the baby will be more quickly satisfied at the breast and will not be likely to overeat.

Lazy muscles, due perhaps to constant dosing, may cause the constipation. Make the changes suggested and use some mechanical means of getting a daily movement at a regular time. You may have our leaflet, "Methods of Helping Constipation," if the above suggestions are not successful. Ask for the leaflet by name, sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

To-morrow: "Formulas Are Based on Baby's Age and Weight."

Harold Brynjolfson Wins B.C. Amateur Golf Championship

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Brynjolfson's Win Great Victory for Uplands Club

Uplands Deserve Great Credit for Coaching of Youngsters

Saanich Thistles Show Poor Sportsmanship by Leaving Field

Wilbert Robinson Makes Canny Deals for Brooklyn Robins

WHEN Harold Brynjolfson defeated Bob Morrison, a clubmate, yesterday afternoon to win the British Columbia amateur golf championship, it climaxed a great moral victory for the Uplands Golf Club. Not only had a member of their club won the title but they had the honor of putting two of their players into the final. As far as we have been able to learn, this is the first time in the history of the tournament that two players from the same club have contested a final. It is also many a long day since two Victoria players have reached the deciding bracket. When one stops and thinks of the elated outside entry in the tournament, it was really phenomenal that Brynjolfson and Morrison were able to brush aside all other competition and contest the deciding match for the crown. We are willing to take off our hats to this pair any day in the week and say, "Well done."

Another idea of the fine golfers being produced at the Uplands is seen from the fact that in the quarter finals of the championship, the local club had four of its members still in the running. Morrison, Brynjolfson, Dr. C. N. Westwood and Jack Melville.

The Uplands Club deserves all the credit in the world for the manner in which it has coached its younger players. Both Brynjolfson and Morrison have been knocking at the door of fame for some time and now one of them has come home with the bacon. The Uplands have taken a special interest in the progress of their "kids" the older and more experienced members always being ready to lend them a helping hand. It certainly has brought results and at this time, would like to extend our congratulations to the Uplands Club and hope they will continue to coach the younger players, because golf, like all other sports, has developed into a young man's game.

Brynjolfson has built himself an enviable reputation by being the holder of the British Columbia amateur, the City and the Uplands Club championships all at the same time. He is a genuine golfing talent. What amazed the majority of the golfers yesterday was the tremendous distance he obtained with his drive, even although he is of slender stature.

We were sorry to witness the poor bit of sportsmanship displayed by the Saanich Thistles, First Division football team, on Saturday afternoon, when the entire eleven players walked off the field in protest to a decision by the referee. Actions of this nature are ones that could be attributed to a bunch of youngsters but hardly to a team of grown-up men. The Thistles will have to learn, and should have learned by this time, that the referee's word is law and any amount of protesting will not help matters after he has made a decision. If the "breakers" go against you get in and play all the harder.

The Thistles, by their action have given their club a black eye. This is poor stuff from the standpoint of the spectators and they are the people that keep the game alive. Once a sport loses its support, it is finished. Lacrosse in the west is a good example of that.

Under the mask of guileless personality, Uncle Wilbert Robinson has picked up some pretty good ball players for his Brooklyn ball team. It is not hard to remember how he gave Cincinnati Pitcher Douglass Mitchell a good thrashing for an aged and indigent senior named Adolpho Luque, and how Adolpho kept the Robins right up there during most of last season.

It is just as easy to recall how he took Glenn Wright from the Pirates in exchange for Pete Petty and Harry Riccarda, and how Glenn, with his shoulder patched up, became one of the two greatest shortstops in the National League—the other being Travis Jackson.

This year Uncle Robbie has picked up Lefty O'Doul and Fresno Thompson in exchange for a couple of pitchers and Hal Lee, and if you cherish a secret notion that this latest bargain doesn't put your uncle at the top of the National League, don't go around shouting the fact into amplifiers and get yourself classed as a bit squirrelly.

Of all the managers in the big leagues to-day, Uncle Robbie is the most humanly interesting. Walter Johnson is a splendid character with qualities you just have to admire. But every move that Uncle Robbie makes is a picture. Every word is a story.

INJURIES TO HURT CHANCES OF CANADIENS

Morenz, Leduc and Mondou on Injured List as Stanley Cup Finalists Rest

Black Hawks Intend to Throw More Speed Against Montreal Team Thursday

Montreal, April 7.—The same crowd which on Thursday night will cram Montreal Forum to the rafters to see Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks clash in their deadlocked series for the Stanley Cup, yesterday evening gathered at the station to welcome Canadiens home from Chicago where they won one and lost one of the first two games in the three-out-of-five series. Black Hawks arrived this morning and both teams will take things easy until Thursday night.

Hawks will be at full strength and ready to follow out Coach Dick Irvin's plan of carrying more and more speed on the Canadian defence. Canadiens chances depend upon the ability of Howie Morenz, Albert Leduc and Johnny Gagnon to be on deck Thursday. Howie was caught heavily on the shoulder in Sunday's game by Taffy Abel and suffered considerable pain on the journey back. Leduc is still in hospital with a concussion sustained in the series in which Canadiens put Boston Bruins out of further competition. Gagnon left late yesterday evening for Chicoutimi to attend the funeral of his father who died while Johnny was in Chicago. It is not expected that Armand Mondou will be in action for the first game, although he may possibly play later in the series.

"KID" MCCOY MAY OBTAIN FULL PARDON

Application For Pardon Signed By Senators and Four Governors

San Quentin Prison, Cal. ## British Rugby Team May Play Here Next Year

J. Fyfe-Smith, President of Canadian English Rugby Union, Tells Sportsmen Team From Old Land May Be In City Next September or October; Mayor Anscomb Says City Considering Building New Rugby Field; Speakers Commend Kiwanians and Players for Work in Putting on Charity Rugby Game.

Possibility of a British rugby team playing in Victoria next September or October was mooted by J. Fyfe-Smith, president of the Canadian English Rugby Union, in his remarks before rugby enthusiasts and sportsmen of Victoria and Vancouver in the banquet tendered the players in the Kiwanis charity game at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening.

LEADS SCORERS

Nothing definite had been announced, Mr. Fyfe-Smith stated, but added that during his recent visit to England he had met the majority of the older country's internationalists, who had appeared very enthusiastic over the prospects of making a tour of the dominion. Such a series would be played while the team was on its way to the Antipodes, if the Britishers made a trip to the land "down under."

Such a match would be one of the high lights of the year with respect to rugby, he told the gathering, saying a tour of Japan by an all-Canadian team, was planned for next January. The invitation to play had been extended to the Canadian body by the Nipponese, the speaker noted, and would be accepted when final arrangements had been completed at this end.

Deadly Iron Play and Putting Feature His Victory Over Morrison

Slender Uplands Youngster Defeats Clubmate 2 Up After Grueling Thirty-six-hole Battle for Provincial Title; Brynjolfson Obtained Early Lead and Was Always Out in Front.

BRYNJOLFSON NOW HOLDER OF THREE CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Morrison Cuts Lead to 1 Up Five Times During Afternoon Round But Was Never Able to Square Match; Brynjolfson 2 Up at End of First Eighteen; Large Gallery Follows Players.

Harold Brynjolfson, slender young golfer from the Uplands Club, is the new British Columbia men's amateur champion. Playing over his home course yesterday, Brynjolfson defeated Bob Morrison, a clubmate and winner of the medal honors, 2 up, after a gruelling thirty-six-hole match. Brynjolfson was always out in front, enjoying a lead of 2 up at the end of the first eighteen holes, but was forced to play his best golf to conquer the fighting Morrison, who carried the match to the last green before going under. Despite the heavy downpour in the afternoon a large gallery followed the players.

Five times during the afternoon round Morrison sliced his opponent's lead to a single hole but he could never square it. Brynjolfson displayed wonderful grit and just when it appeared as if Morrison would get onto even terms, would come through to win another hole or gain a half and protect his advantage. Brynjolfson's victory was featured by his brilliant approach shots and wonderful putting. It was his fine play close to and on the greens that gave him his edge. Brynjolfson had three birdies in the afternoon and Morrison two. The former shot a 74, while Morrison got a 72. In the morning, Brynjolfson had a 72 to Morrison's 74.

Following the final, the prizes were presented the various winners by S. J. Halls of Victoria, president of the British Columbia Golf Association. Brynjolfson received the beautiful Bostock Cup, held last year by Freddy Wood of Vancouver.

Brynjolfson now has the distinction of being the possessor of three golf titles, two major crowns, the British Columbia amateur and the city, besides the Uplands Club championship.

In yesterday's final, Brynjolfson and Morrison played golf although both dubbed a number of shots during the course of the thirty-six holes. Brynjolfson pulled off a number of brilliant recovery shots and gave a steady exhibition. Morrison was off in his driving during the morning round but showed considerable improvement in his afternoon play. At the end of the first nine holes in the morning Brynjolfson was enjoying a lead of three up. Brynjolfson went four up at the tenth by fanning a par four to Morrison's five. Morrison reduced the lead by a hole at the twelfth by getting a par four while Brynjolfson took a five after pushing his drive into a bunker. The next three holes were halved with Brynjolfson grabbing off a birdie two at the sixteenth to go four up again. Brynjolfson three up at the seventeenth and dropped the lead at the eighteenth when he drove his second shot into the rough and took a five to Morrison's four, leaving him a lead of two up at lunch time.

GEORGE DUNLAP LEADING FIELD

Intercollegiate Champ Scores Brilliant 72 in North and South Golf

Pinehurst, N.C., April 7.—An 18-hole score of 72, made up of a 38 and a sizzling 34, gave George T. Dunlap Jr., of New York, Princeton star and intercollegiate champion, a five-stroke lead to-day at the half-way point of the 36-hole qualifying round of the north and south amateur golf tournament.

A dazzling rain played havoc with the scores of many of his opponents. T. Sufferin Tailor, Newport, R.I., and Richards S. Tufts, Pinehurst, were tied for second with 77's. The best Eugene Homans, Englewood, N.J., the defending champion, could do was to card a 79.

The final 18 holes of the qualifying play were scheduled for to-day.

Inability of the leading marksmen of Montreal Canadiens to shake the goal (famine which has gripped them since the league and Stanley Cup play-offs commenced, is a source of wonderment to National Hockey League fans.

Howie Morenz, centre ice star, who led the league in point scoring during the regular season, has failed to dent the twine in seven games, although he has assisted in the scoring of four goals.

The feat of little Cooney Weiland, Boston centre, in scoring six goals and giving passes for two others, still stands the individual high light of the play-off scoring.

HELEN MOODY GOES IN BUT HUBBY WAITS

San Francisco, April 7.—Mrs. Helen Moody, international tennis player, had no difficulty entering the auditorium here Sunday night for the Tilden-Kozul exhibition match, but her husband, Fred S. Moody, Jr., was kept waiting outside by a doorman. Ed Lynch, match promoter, denied there were arguments, but that there was a "little misunderstanding."

A request for passes for Mrs. Moody and her party had been sent in, but William O'Brien, one of Tilden's managers, said "No passes."

Lynch said: "When Mrs. Moody arrived she was admitted at once, but the doorman kept her husband outside for a while. As soon as Kozul heard about it he took care of him with passes right away."

Montreal Maroons Beat Ottawa 8 to 7

Moncton, N.B., April 7.—Montreal Maroons eked out an 8 to 7 victory over the Ottawa Senators in an exhibition hockey match here yesterday evening. It was the third game the National League teams have staged on their barnstorming tour of the Maritime, and Montreal have won two. Tonight they conclude their tour with a game in Charlottetown.

"You can usually tell a beginner from a veteran golfer even when—as often happens—they both shoot 107. The beginner will say, 'I was one under even sixes.' The veteran will say, 'I was seventeen over even fives.'"

Smashing Forward Tactics Give Local Ruggers Win

Completely Dominate Second Half to Beat Mainland "Reps" 9 to 3

Tries by Horace Goad and Larry Henderson in Latter Part of Last Period Break Three-all Tie and Bring Victory to Victoria "Reps" in Charity Match; Niblo Scores Only Vancouver Points With Penalty Goal and C. Forbes Equalizes Before Half Time; Capitals Show Great Form on Muddy Field.

Two good tries in the second half gave Victoria reps a 9 to 3 victory over Vancouver's star King George squad after the teams had battled to a 3 to 3 draw in the first period in the charity rugby match, staged under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club, at the Royal Athletic Park yesterday. Playing in a sea of mud, with the rain falling throughout, the locals' smashing forward tactics completely dominated the game. As an interesting sidelight, the hundreds of spectators who braved the elements, saw the Capitals, including eleven of the Canadian Scottish players, down the same team which gained a draw against the militiamen in the B.C. championship here two weeks ago.

JACK DEMPSEY TO TAKE TWO MONTHS' REST

Former Heavyweight Boxing Champion Will Follow Advice of Doctors

Found to Be Irritable, Sleepless and Restless; Cancels Many Engagements

Columbus, Ohio, April 7.—After refereeing a bout at Wheeling, W.Va., to-night, Jack Dempsey will retire from public life for at least two months on the order of his physicians. The former heavyweight champion, who refereed the Bushy Graham-Johnny Farr match here yesterday evening, announced that doctors at Mayo Clinic, at Rochester, Minn., examined him recently and advised him to rest in order to recuperate from nervousness and persistent loss of weight. Although he appeared robust, Dempsey said he had felt "but I intend to follow doctor's orders. I always listened to my seconds in the ring, so I guess I had better listen to the doctors, who are in my corner this time. I will go to the country for at least two months—longer if necessary."

The doctors, Dempsey said, found him irritable, sleepless and restless and warned that continued traveling would result in "complete nervous exhaustion."

Bowling Champs Decided At Big A.B.C. Tourney

Buffalo, N.Y., April 7.—Eddie Rafferty and Charley Reilly, Philadelphia, are the 1931 American Bowling Congress doubles champions; Willie Clark, Erie, singles titleholder, and Mike Mauser, Youngstown, all-events winner. The national pin classic was concluded here early yesterday evening and despite the efforts of 220 out-of-town players, the topnotchers remained undisturbed and the curtain was rung down on the biggest tourney in American Bowling Congress history. Rafferty and Reilly topped a field of 3,649 teams in winning the doubles title. Their 1,316 total wins a prize of $500 besides the diamond medals awarded to all the champions. Clark outscored 7,305 in the singles division, winning $300, and Mauser's 1,966 total topped the all-events division, was worth $175.

$50,000 And Worth It

By JIMMY THOMPSON

With the final act over so far as the Toronto Maple Leafs are concerned, for the 1930-31 hockey season, many a fan will now ask himself, was the $50,000 spent for "King" Clancy a good or bad investment. Directly from the financial standpoint we have reason to believe that it was a good one. At the beginning of the season wherever the Leafs played while they were on the road "King" Clancy was the great box office attraction. At the home games he was a great attraction and the Arena Gardens were filled to capacity for over three-quarters of the season. From the team's standpoint "Hap" Day had been laden down with defence duties in the previous season to the extent that he wasn't able to show his wares, while this season with an experienced man at his side, he appeared to have a new lease of life. In considering the acquisition of Clancy from the standpoint of the morale of the team, there is no member liked better among his team-mates and his experience with the younger players of the club helped the team out of many a tight corner. It is therefore obvious that Manager Connie Smythe took a long chance and has won—but if you know Conn that his second chance—long chances. Watch him put over another long shot before the racing season gets very old.

TOILERS IN RALLY TO WIN OVER REGINA

Famous Winnipeg Basketball Quintette Ekes Out 24 to 22 Win Over Caps

Toilers, Twice Dominion Champs; Second Game Will Be Played To-night

Regina, April 7.—Winnipeg's famed Toilers, twice holders of the Dominion basketball championship, eked out a 24 to 22 victory over the Regina Capitals here yesterday evening in the first of a two-game series in the Western Canada playdown and will carry a two-point advantage into the second game to-night. A brilliant comeback midway through the second half of the game, helped out when the shooting of the Capitals fell below par, was responsible for the Toilers' triumph, and they overcame a nine-point deficit in that stirring rally and went on to win by the narrow margin of one field basket.

The capital quintette did better than hold their own in the first half of the game and when the twenty-minute period was up, the Regina held the long end of a 14-10 score. This they increased during the early minutes of the second half and then they weakened under the sure-fire onslaught of the Winnipeggers, and only recovered in the last five minutes to cut the Toilers' lead to a bare two points. The lineup and scoring: Regina: Capitals—McNown (12), Arndt (4), Bruce (5), Elwood (1), Alexander, Campbell, Miller and Cooke, 19-70. Winnipeg: Toilers—Dodd (4), Phillips (9), Woolley (2), Silverthorn (5), Torogood, Shea (2), Wilson (2), and Brown (nil). Referee—Bob Webb, Regina; Cyril Brooks, Winnipeg.

Bonfield Scores Surprise Victory In Tanforan Race

San Francisco, April 7.—In a surprise victory yesterday, Bonfield, owned by Peter B. Kyne and ridden by J. Maiben, led the field in the Santa Rosa purse feature event of the day's meet at Tanforan. Time for the mile and seventy yards was 1:43. Bonfield set the early pace, but weakened to take third, while upright, also in the fore at the start, finished out of the money. Five-dollar preferred options on Bonfield were redeemed for $57, while $4 secondary options returned $22. Four-dollar secondary options on Shasta Broom brought $6. There were no races to-day on account of the opening of the Pacific Coast League baseball season.

Massey Surprises To Take Ten-round Call Over R. Miller

Philadelphia, April 7.—Lew Massey, Philadelphia Italian, won the decision over Ray Miller, lanky Chicago lightweight, in the ten-round main event at the arena yesterday evening. Massey weighed 130, Miller 132. Massey, the under dog in the opinion of the experts, surprised the fans by his boxing skill against the flashy and hard socking Chicagoan, and frequently forced the fighting. Miller's deadly left hook, which in recent months had flattened two Philadelphia batters, landed on Massey's tough jaw repeatedly, but the Italian shook them off without apparent injury. Massey used a stiff left jab effectively, but the punch that did the most damage to the Chicagoan was a sting- ing right that Lew landed on the head and body in every round. There were no knockdowns.

Eight Clubs Usher in Lengthy Season; Fans Will Get Twenty-six Weeks of Baseball This Year; Hollywood, Last Year's Champions, and San Francisco Seals Are Early Season Favorites; Ty Cobb, Central Figure, in Dedication of $1,250,000 San Francisco Park.

The time-worn alibis for leaving the office at noon were in vogue along the Pacific Coast to-day as fans prepared for the opening of the twenty-six weeks 1931 Pacific Coast baseball season this afternoon.

Opening games were scheduled at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento with elaborate ceremonies planned to usher in the season.

The Hollywood Stars, 1930 champions, will open the season at Sacramento. Los Angeles Angels, runners-up last year, stay at home to entertain the Seattle Indians. The San Francisco Seals will oppose Oakland's A's on the latter's home lot, while the Portland Ducks will help the San Francisco Seals dedicate their new $1,250,000 home—Seals' Stadium.

Hollywood and the Seals have been picked by observers as potential league champions with Oakland and Portland as the "dark horses."

NEW MANAGERS
Two new managers make their debut this season. Spencer Abbott, former big league player, and manager of various clubs in the last fifteen years, pilots Portland. He replaces Larry Woodall, retained as catcher. George Burns, former first-sacker for the New York Yankees, Cleveland, Detroit and the Philadelphia Athletics, will steer the Missions. He replaces Wade "Red" Killefer, who is recovering from a serious illness. Ty Cobb, great star of the past, will be chief guest of honor at the ceremonies attending opening of Seals' Stadium. State and municipal officials will have parts in the festivities at other opening games.

CONVENTION OF TEACHERS OPENS HERE

First Session at Empress Hotel Attended By Nearly 1,000

Group of Educators Welcomed By Mayor, School Trustee and Other Officials

With nearly 1,000 people attending, the twelfth annual convention of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation opened at a public meeting in the Empress Hotel yesterday evening. Ira Dilworth, president, was in the chair.

Greetings by civic officials and educational leaders were extended to the delegates as well as a warm welcome to the capital city. Presentation of an honorary membership to Dr. E. B. Paul and an address by Dr. Willard Brewster of Vancouver, were the highlights of the evening.

Adding to the success of the inaugural convocation was an exceptionally fine musical programme staged by the Victoria Schools Orchestra, Arion club and Miss Dorothy Morton, pianiste. The schools orchestra, consisting of fifty pieces under the direction of the late Mr. Taylor, received warm applause for a fine half-hour programme at the opening and the Arion club closed the evening with several well-rendered numbers. Mrs. Morton was heard in two beautiful piano selections.

MAYOR'S WELCOME
Mayor Anson extended the "freedom of the city to the fair sex and, if necessary, the freedom of the police department to the gentlemen" in a humorous address of welcome. The teachers, he said, had a heavy responsibility to the state, of inculcating into the minds of the young the duties of citizenship. He wished the federation every success, saying that he was a great believer in organization and co-operation as a factor in general advancement.

Trustee J. L. Beckwith, on behalf of the Victoria School Board, tendered a hearty welcome and wishes for a very successful convention.
S. Bowell, president of the B.C. Teachers' Association, in expressing appreciation of the invitation to represent the organization at the meeting, paid high tribute to Harry Charlesworth, general secretary of the federation, as a man of particularly high calibre, who was always working for the best interests of the profession. He referred to the co-operation between the trustees and the teachers on the question of the "Hinchliffe bill," about which, he said, the delegates would hear more later.

Mrs. E. Mahon, president of the Provincial Parent-Teacher Federation, said the body she represented was prepared to stand shoulder to shoulder with the teachers in solving their difficulties, and would work for a greater intelligence among the public on educational matters.

In reply, C. G. Brown, vice-president of the federation, expressed appreciation of the co-operation of the trustees and parent-teacher groups, and hoped the teachers' body would continue to merit the support.

The association for the meeting was given by Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, pastor of First United Church.

EGG PRODUCER TURNS INVENTOR

Lars Hansen, Enterprising Danish Immigrant, Saves Case Breakages

By STUART TRUMAN
Saint John, N.B., April 7.—A survival of the far-sighted spirit of enterprise that guided the old-time Scandinavians to new worlds in legend and fact flows strong in the veins of Lars Hansen.

It may be said here, rather than at the end, that Lars Hansen has just patented in Canada an invention for a new type of lock on wooden crate tops with patent pending in the United States. He is foreman of a thriving cannery plant.

Thirty-nine years ago, Lars Hansen was born in Odense, Denmark. He grew up and developed an interest in poultry and eggs, and when he was in his twenties he joined the staff of the Svendborg branch of the Odense Cofortery.

Lars Hansen was manager of the egg exchange when he decided he could do better in Canada. He had been manager for five years. Not that there is truth in the saying, "There is something rotten in Denmark," applicable perhaps to eggs, but Lars Hansen visioned wider opportunities in the country. And so he was able to identify the something wrong—Denmark was too crowded with people.

Came the turning point in his life. He embarked alone for Canada, arrived at Halifax, continued on to Saint John; secured employment as a grader in the local plant of the Maritime Co-operative Egg and Poultry Exchange.

The exchange did not only hatch eggs. It hatched a lusty young cannery, and Lars Hansen was made foreman. The cannery's output grew and grew. The industrious foreman experimented with varied delicacies—he canned headcheese, blueberries, yellow beans, beets, as well as chickens, chicken soup, and turned out a tasty product always.

Now his invention. Lars Hansen used to watch men at the exchange working for lengthy periods in nailing up dozens of crates. Every time the covers were wrenched off, some would be broken and many would come back from their destinations so badly damaged that new covers were necessary. It set him thinking.

When he went home, he described his idea to Bernard Jacobson, a local Danish-Canadian friend who has resided here for twenty years. Lars Hansen began to elaborate on his plans for an iron locking arrangement that would save the wear and tear on nailed tops. His friend aided by suggestions here and there. They went together in cost of patenting the finished invention, and last month saw the patent granted in Canada. It is pending in the United States.

The little locking device adds about 10 cents to the cost of an 8-cent cover, but it means that only one top has to be obtained, instead of three or four as now.

Egg exchange officials as well as J. Taylor, federal egg inspector, and E. Gauvin, federal inspector of sanitation, have endorsed the invention.

Ancient Numbers

This week I want to take you back thousands of years, so we may see the numbers used by people of olden times.

When men first learned to count, what did they use to help them? No one was around to write down the numbers, so we do not know for certain; but we may guess that they counted their fingers.

One thing which makes that better than a guess is the fact that all through history, most people have counted by "tens."

We have ten fingers, if we count thumbs as fingers.

The "score" is believed to have come from counting toes as well as fingers, to give a total of twenty.

The "hundred" is a common figure. If we count the fingers of both hands ten times, we have 100.

People in ancient Egypt used a mark which suggests a finger for the number "one." As their arithmetic system grew, they made a simple straight mark for "one," and used a clear picture of a finger for the number "10,000." Thus one finger stood for as large a number as all the fingers of 1,000 people.

Pictures found in the tomb of an Egyptian king show groups of cattle, donkeys and goats. The artist wanted to give the number of each kind of animal. There were 123,440 cattle and 233,400 donkeys.

An arch stood for "ten" in ancient Egypt. A spiral figure, looking something like a coiled rope, stood for "100." There were great numbers of

He suggested the success of the Five-Year Plan would be a threat to the stability of other nations. The former prince is a nephew of Ex-Baron Bayard, who was vice-president of the last Russian Duma.

"The whole tremendous experiment being tried in Russia is based on the most unbelievable simplicity of the mass of the Russian people—the peasantry," he said.

Improvement Signs

More Numerous

American Federation of Labor's April survey of business issued today, says the bottom of the business depression has been reached, with a second shift towards prosperity due next fall.

Dun's and Bradstreet's reports today say signs of improvement have become numerous in certain departments and there is still some confusion in various lines.

WRESTLING

Seattle, April 7.—Taking the only fall of the fracas in the seventh round, a backward body slam, Charley Hanson, Seattle heavyweight, won the feature bout of a wrestling card here yesterday evening from Freddie Myers, New York.

Howard Cantonwine, Iowa, and Charley Pinto, New York, tussled in a five-round draw in the semi-final, with Cantonwine scoring the victory by a pinfall in the fourth round. Cantonwine scored the first fall in the third round on a short leg scissor, and Pinto evened matters in the fifth.

Albuquerque, N.M., April 7.—Waino Ketonen, claimant of the international middleweight wrestling championship, had too much skill for Otis Clingman, Texas mat man, in their main event match here yesterday evening.

Clingman captured the initial fall with a drop toe hold in 19.30. Ketonen took the second after 17 1/2 minutes, with a series of flying headlocks.

The last fall resulted when Waino Ketonen captured a hard body slam after slipping out of an apparent danger to his head. The time was 5.30.

Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, April 7.—John Freberg, Swedish giant, took two straight falls from Billy Root, Coeur d'Alene, in the feature event of a wrestling card here yesterday evening.

They are heavyweights. Tom Grant, 195, Spokane, took two straight falls from Jack Reed, 185, Ogden, Utah, in the semi-final.

Montreal, Que., April 7.—Gus Sonnenberg, former claimant of the world wrestling title, won two falls in three over George Zaryoff, Russian grappler, here yesterday evening. Sonnenberg used his famous flying tackle to pin the giant Russian to the canvas for the winning fall.

Zaryoff took the first fall after a 32-minute struggle. Eleven minutes later Sonnenberg threw his opponent out of the ring and when Zaryoff returned a quick tackle enabled Gus to win the second fall. The successful flying tackle was applied after five and a half minutes of wrestling for the third fall.

New York, April 7.—Jim McMillan, the 215-pound Chicagoan, used a flying tackle and body slam to down Rudy Dusek, 214, Omaha, in their heavyweight wrestling match here yesterday evening. The time was 32 minutes 35 seconds. An estimated crowd of 6,000 saw the match.

injuries to his neck. He left the field for a while, but returned.

Still on the attack, the local forwards pressed into the visitors' twenty-five. Wemman kicked over the line, but Humphries beat him to the ball.

Easy Access Is Main Factor

In Drug Addiction, Declares

U.S. Public Health Expert

By DR. MORRIS FISHBKIN

Repetition of the use of opium, cocaine and their derivatives results in addition to these drugs. Apparently the addiction is the result of the will of the individual to find in the effect of the drug a release from his worries and pains, because the drug produces a condition called euphoria, a sense of well being and happiness.

The withdrawal of the drug is associated with pain of an intense character, which the individual attempts to relieve by the taking of more narcotics. When a person has reached this stage in the use of the narcotic, he is described by addicts as having the habit, the colloquial term being that he is "hooked."

Dr. W. L. Fishbein of the United States Public Health Service is convinced that the chief factor in drug addiction is ease of access to the drug.

First, previous use of drugs in medical treatment; second, self-treatment for relief of pain; third, recourse to the drug in the face of the influence of other addicts both in the community and in prison; fifth, for the sake of curiosity, thrill or bravado.

Addiction is more readily induced in some people than in others. In general, it is believed that the most important predisposing cause is an inherent mental or nervous instability. Addiction may be induced, however, by the injudicious use of drugs in people apparently free from any mental or nervous

200,000,000 BUSHEL CROP
FORECAST FOR KANSAS

Grain prices continued to ease down in all markets to-day, with more wheat for sale than there appeared buyers to take it.

"A Kansas City man says to-day it has been the practice of the trade either to make or kill the crop in April," the Chicago Tribune to-day says.

"Bearishness prevails to an unusual extent in the wheat market, based largely on estimates from the southwest."

"A Fort Worth man, who has here, is estimated that Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas and New Mexico will have around 300,000,000 bushels. There were claims of 200,000,000 bushels of Kansas and a Hutchinson man is out with an estimate of 230,000,000 bushels."

"Conservative people in close touch with Kansas said the state had sufficient acreage to raise 200,000,000 bushels."

"Moisture conditions generally are satisfactory," The Journal of Commerce says. "More rain will be needed as the crop progresses after warm weather sets in, but for the present there is sufficient to give a good start. There was some selling of September wheat by Winnipeg houses."

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, April 7.—Wheat: There was little or no feature to the wheat market to-day outside of the fact that the heaviness prevailed throughout the session with prices finally declining more than one cent, the nearby months being the weakest. Liverpool was a distinct disappointment and did not follow the bulk of about two cents in this market on Monday. Export business overnight was practically nil, being around 250,000 bushels.

The market for the daily bids for about half a cent, and working against these comprised the bulk of the business that was passing in the p.m. Several attempts were made to lift the market out of the bids, but these proved useless, the market reaching lowest levels during the last half hour. In the cash market there was very little going on. There was some little demand for certain grades from shippers, but offerings were light and very little was changing hands. There was no change in the flour situation. Spring-like conditions exist over the spring wheat territory of North America, and seedling has commenced. Weather fine and some apprehension that there is sufficient moisture to start growth, but good general rains will be urgently needed shortly as there is no subsoil moisture. Winnipeg futures closed 1/4 lower.

Coarse grains: These markets were extremely quiet and featureless. There was no selling pressure in evidence, but prices dragged, fractionally lower in sympathy with the weakness in wheat. The demand was very slim, although the odd car of oats and barley was reported to eastern Canada. Export business nil.

Flax: Dull and featureless, closing prices unchanged to 1/2 lower. Liverpool closed 1/2 to 1/4 lower based on Winnipeg.

Can the Wife Whose Husband Has Been Unfaithful to Her Forget Her Hurt? Girl Who Is Letting a Selfish Parent and Lazy Fiance Make a Good Thing of Her

DEAR MISS DIX—I know I am just one of thousands of wives living with husbands whom they have helped to succeed and now that they have it more than most women, because I had it to give. I had money of my own, which I used gladly to help him expand his business, and I was happy to be able to do this and to help him on to success. After we had been married eighteen years things began to change. He had always been good and kind, always home at night, ready to take me out any place I wanted to go. Then I learned that he had established a girl I had reared and educated in an apartment in the city and he was spending part of his day-time hours with her. Not being well at the time, this brought on me a nervous breakdown. I offered to leave and let him get the divorce so as not to hurt him in a business way, but he would not agree to this. Said that even if I were to go away he would not marry this girl and by going I would not only ruin my life but his as well, break up our home and we would both be adrift.

It has been two years since this happened and I have lived in hell ever since. I used to be gay and joyous and got fun out of everything. Now I am as old as the hills and all the joy of life has gone from me. My husband says I worry him to death because I have no confidence in him and because I am not a gay companion as I used to be. He says other women go through this same thing but forget it.

I have thought many times of leaving him, but he is sixty and I am forty-five, and with all my wealth I would be very much alone. I also think often of suicide. No one would be hurt by my going, a few people would benefit by it. Perhaps what has happened is my fault because I failed somewhere or there was something lacking in me. I have analyzed myself and tried to find where my falling was, but I do not know what it was unless I loved him too much.

MRS. J. B. D.

Answer: I wish that I could lay a hand of healing on your hurt heart, but there is nothing that I can do but tell you that your husband speaks the truth when he says that there are thousands upon thousands of other wives with unfaithful husbands, who do gather up their courage and dry their eyes and bind up their wounds after the fatal blow they have received and go stumbling on through life with at least outward cheerfulness. It is said that misery loves company. If that be the case you have, at least, the poor consolation of knowing that you have plenty of sisters who are your fellow sufferers.

But when your husband asserts that these women whose husbands have betrayed them forgets it he tells a lie. No woman ever forgets even for an instant that her husband has been false to her. The memory of that wrong is like a stab in the heart that never heals, and the ache of it throbs day and night with an intolerable anguish as long as she lives.

The wife may technically forgive, that is, she may condone it to the extent of not leaving him, but she never forgets. The husband may think she does because she covers her hurt over with silence and never speaks of it, but it is always there in her consciousness, a blot on their lives that can never be erased.

Nor is it possible for a wife who has once been deceived ever again to have any confidence in her husband. She has trusted him and he has proved disloyal. He has torn her faith in him to tatters and nothing can ever make it whole and beautiful again. It is always a patched-up affair that breaks at the slightest strain.

When a husband has been a traitor to his wife and trampled the sanctity of their marriage under foot, it is all over for her. The glory and the circling wings are gone and she beats upon her breast and cries out that she is the most wretched of all women, and it does not make it easier for her to bear when the husband makes light of the tragedy and considers that she is making a great potter about nothing.

For that is the way the average man looks at his little affairs. A mere episode. And he doesn't see why his wife should tear her hair over it when she should have sense enough to know that he is merely amusing himself with a pretty young girl and that he really thinks that his Maria is the only woman in the world and wouldn't give her up for all the flappers in creation.

And the curious part of this and the thing that we women never can understand is that it is true. When we are unfaithful to our husbands it is because we have ceased to love them and love some other man, but a man can love his wife and prefer her to all other women and still be untrue to her. No woman can comprehend how this can be, but it is just the way men are made.

So when your husband tells you that he still loves you after his fashion, it is doubtless true, and you can accept it for what it is worth, and the misfortune is to him in that you will know that it is plinchbeck instead of gold and that it will have little value in your eyes. I often think that at the end it is the philandering husbands who suffer most. They throw away the love and respect of their wives, the love that would have followed them to death and beyond, for mercenary kisses. It is a great price to pay for trumpery.

Do not blame yourself for what has happened. That is morbid. It was not your fault. There are just men who are blown about by every gust of passion like straws in a wind; men who could not be faithful to any woman, not even if she were as beautiful as an hour and endowed with perpetual youth and possessed of every charm and virtue. They are just male butterflies, bound by the law of their natures, to flit from flower to flower.

I do not think you will be happier if you divorce your husband. It will only leave you more lonely and with no home on which to expend your energies. Better by far to accept the situation and make the best of it. Get what pleasure you can out of his companionship and remember that time is a great healer. Insensibly we grow used to suffering. Our backs straighten to the burden and somehow we go on and learn to smile again.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have a good position and turn in practically all of my salary to my mother with the exception of $5 a week, which she and my father allow me for spending money. I am engaged to a young man who seldom has a full week's work. We are of different religious beliefs, he being very much opposed to mine, so much so that he hates to hear of my going to attend my church service. He wants to marry me this summer, but has no money saved up. Has not even been able to give me an engagement ring. My mother is very much opposed to my marrying this man, first because of our religious being different and, secondly, because she says I should remain single, saying that she needs me to take care of her even though my father is still living and there are two other children. What should I do?

LOU.

Answer: You seem to be the queen of the nanny goat tribe. First, you are the victim of your mother, who feels that you should be enslaved to her and spend your life toiling for her benefit and behoof. Then you are engaged to a young man who evidently looks upon you in the light of a meal ticket.

My advice to you is to spunk up and have a little backbone and keep your money for yourself. Pay your mother a fair board, but handle your own pay envelope and tell her that you have no idea whatever of being the whole family's support and that father and the other children had better look for jobs. Then read the riot act to the young man and tell him there will be no wedding bells until he has a good, steady job and is, at least, in a position to pay his quota of the household expenses. A good wife should be a helpmeet, but she shouldn't be a good thing and let a lazy husband depend upon her to support him in the way his mother used to do.

If a man doesn't love a woman well enough to work for her, he doesn't love her at all. And that's that.

And don't marry a man who is intolerant of your religion. There are enough things in marriage to fight over without making a holy war.
